LONDON (AP)—Lord Mancroft, minister without portfolio, always knows when to f.g.s.b.c.a.s.t.b., w.p.s. or t.d.b. by courtesy of the COI.

Reporters noticed the cryptic initials scribbled on the margins of a written speech he made about an army recruiting drive.

F.g.s.b.c.a.s.t.b., the peer explained, means "for God's sake be careful and stick to the brief."

W.p.s. means "weak point, shout."

And t.d.b. stands for "thump the dispatch box" a container for official documents which stands in front of the ministerial benches in Parliament.

B.C. FOREST CHARGED

New Bribery Counts Laid To Sommers

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Sommers bribery case was adjourned today for a week and the Police Court Magistrate said: "It's obvious the case will not get on for some time."

The charges of conspiracy and of bribery against Robert Sommers, former British Columbia lands and forest minister, and four forest industry companies and four of their executives, was adjourned after defence and Crown attorneys indicated they may not be ready to proceed until February.

Next week's hearing is expected to set a date for proceeding in the case.

In addition to conspiracy charges filed earlier against Sommers and the other defendants, Prosecutor Stewart McMorran filed charges today of bribery and accepting bribes. He said that if proven against them, it could increase their maximum sentence to 14 years from the five-year sentence possible on the conspiracy charges. A further defendant was brought into the case Thursday when B.C. Forest Products Limited was served with a summons listing six charges of bribery and conspiracy. The company's late president, Hector Munro, who died in December of a heart attack was listed in two of the counts.

The charges specify that the companies and their executives conspired with Sommers and bribed him while he was forests minister in consideration for forest management licences.

No Individual Defendants Appear

None of the individual defendants appeared in court today for the brief hearing.

Charged with Sommers and B.C. Forest Products are C. D. Schultz, H. Wilson Gray, John M. Gray, C. D. Schultz Limited, Pacific Coast Services Limited and Evergreen Lumber Sales Limited.

Today's hearing was taken up with lawyers' arguments that the forthcoming assizes of the B.C. Supreme Court would keep them engaged well into February.

Representing the most recent defendants in the case, lawyers Walter Owen and Douglas Brown said B.C. Forest Products is anxious to proceed and clear this slur on its reputation.

However, Alfred Bull, who represents Charles D. Schultz and the C. D. Schultz Limited, said he has been waiting for six weeks for the case to proceed.

Glancing at Prosecutor McMorran, Mr. Bull added: "They are trying to build up their case."

Macmillan Mum On New Russ Note

NEW DELHI (AP) — Prime Minister Macmillan lunched today with India's President Rajendra Prasad and Prime Minister Nehru.

A spokesman for Macmillan said the prime minister would not comment on Soviet Premier Bulganin's proposal for a summit conference until he sees the text of the proposal and confers with allied leaders.

Thursday Nehru told Macmillan he welcomes the British leader's suggestion for an East-West non-aggression pact. Nehru said Macmillan's support for the pact received a warm reception "certainly in India, certainly I think in every country of Asia, and I think elsewhere too in Europe and America."

Second Note By Bulganin To John D.

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker today received a new communication from Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin on the convening of an East-West summit meeting.

The note was delivered by Russian Ambassador Dmitri Chuvahin. The ambassador spent 15 minutes with the prime minister.

Mr. Diefenbaker told Mr. Chuvahin the note was "very interesting" but he made no other comment on it. He did not indicate when a reply would be sent.

Federal Hospital Insurance Plan Set for July 1 Start

Single Province Participation

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government's plan of sharing costs of a hospital insurance program will become effective with individual provinces next July 1, under a proposed legislative change announced in the Commons today by Health Minister Monteith.

Mr. Monteith said the government intends to introduce legislation to this effect at the next session of Parliament.

At present the federal offer, originally proposed by the former Liberal administration, calls for the entry of at least six provinces with at least half of Canada's population before the scheme would become effective.

The minister told the House the government will propose that this clause in the original bill be repealed.

In place of it, a new section would permit federal participation with any province that has made an agreement with the central government and has a hospital insurance law in force at July 1, 1958.

Mr. Monteith said he is confident that at least three or four provinces will try to have plans ready to go into operation by July 1. He did not identify them. He felt that most, if not all, of the others also would soon have plans operating.

He said the change in the scheme will advance the starting date. Previously it had been expected the plan would not start in any province before Jan. 1, 1959, when Ontario plans to put its scheme into action.

Mr. Monteith said federal aid under the change would be available to any province that has signed an agreement with the federal government and has the necessary enabling legislation in force. Thus one province would not be dependent on the action of five other provinces.

Former Liberal health minister Paul Martin welcomed the announcement. But he asked whether the government has not yet made up its mind to keep its election promise to include tuberculosis and mental patients under the scheme's coverage.

Mr. Monteith said the government is not prepared to make any further announcement at this time.

Stanley Knowles, deputy CCF leader, said his party also wants to see TB and mental patients covered, but it welcomed the announcement.

Four provinces now have hospital care plans in effect. They are British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Newfoundland and presumably these would benefit from an early start in federal participation.

Mr. Monteith told J. W. Pickersgill (L-Bonaville-Twillingate) it is true he had intended to continue on Page 2

Full Health Plan Asked By CCF

Expand BCHIS Or Cut Sales Tax

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan said today the provincial government should now launch a complete health insurance plan.

Participation of the federal government in hospital insurance, "now puts the province in a position to expand the hospital insurance scheme into an overall health plan which will remove the burden of doctors' bills from the day-to-day budgeting of the average citizen."

"We should start to implement the health insurance bill that was passed by the legislature in 1935 but never proclaimed," Mr. Strachan said.

CUT SALES TAX
"If the premier is afraid to take this progressive step it means that at the next session there must be an immediate reduction in the 5 per cent sales tax to at least 4 per cent."

Mr. Strachan said the CCF welcomed the federal action as the first step toward a complete social security program in Canada.

The Ottawa announcement was welcomed by government leaders, but there was no indication of how the federal contribution would be used.

BEFORE JULY 1
Premier Bennett said B.C. is ready to enter an agreement before July 1.

"We're anxious to establish the program immediately," he said.

The total budget of the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service in the current year is $36,000,000.

Federal contributions to the scheme will amount to about 45 per cent of the total each year.

NO CUTS
Premier Bennett had said previously the government did not intend to cut the sales tax when the federal plan went into effect.

Additional money would be used to provide additional services, he said.

Commons to Adjourn For Liberal Parley

OTTAWA (CP) Prime Minister Diefenbaker today gave notice that the Commons will be adjourned next Wednesday night and Thursday.

His notice of motion published today gave no reasons for the adjournment, but it is in connection with the Liberal party leadership convention here next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

The convention program Wednesday night calls for speeches

by nominated leadership candidates, with windup proceedings and election of a new leader, to succeed opposition leader St. Laurent, Thursday.

Four candidates have announced their intention to contest the leadership. They are: Hon. Lester B. Pearson, former minister of foreign affairs; Hon. Paul D. Martin, former minister of health; Mayor Don Mackay of Calgary and Mayor H. Lloyd Henderson of Portage la Prairie.

a want of confidence motion in the government. It will probably condemn the government's trade policies and in the debate the Liberals will claim that the "bungling" trade policies of the government have contributed to the mounting unemployment.

CCF SUPPORT CERTAIN
The CCF would support such a Liberal want of confidence motion providing it did not include any section that was a eulogy of private enterprise or some other section that would make it impossible for the Socialists to swallow. The Liberals determined to challenge the government would presumably introduce a motion that will be

U.S. Successfully Launches 2 Huge Ballistic Missiles

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Another big ballistic missile was launched here today almost four hours after the successful firing of an Atlas intercontinental weapon.

The second weapon could have been one of two intermediate range air force missiles—the Navaho or the Thor. The Navaho has been discontinued but the Thor is reported ready to go into mass production. The missile appeared to have been fired successfully.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The U.S. Air Force successfully launched its fourth Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile today.

The giant missile rose from its launching pad, in a puff of white smoke and a tremendous flash of flame. Within 15 minutes the defence department announced that the launching was a success—a fact highly evident to the handful of reporters who watched from beaches some miles away from the fenced-off test centre.

The department said further that "the test, which was not full range, was successful."

This meant that the Atlas, designed to fly more than 5,000 miles, was assigned a shorter range for this test flight and operated accurately over that distance.

The Atlas is the American answer to Soviet intercontinental ballistic capability.

SECOND SUCCESS
This was the second apparently successful firing of "the beast," as the Atlas is known to its builders.

On the first two tries, the big missile started to get out of control shortly after launching and had to be destroyed.

The third launching last Dec. 17 was successful over a 600-mile range. The air force said the missile landed in a pre-selected target area.

FUCHS MENDS MACHINES 230 MILES FROM POLE

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (Reuters) — Dr. Vivian Fuchs on Thursday halted his tractor train 230 miles from the South Pole for vehicle maintenance.

He radioed, however, that he still expects to meet his new target date of Jan. 17.

In London, Sir Miles Clifford, a member of the Commonwealth expedition committee, said the South Pole has no significance for Fuchs. It is merely a point on his line of march, he said.

NATO Council Agrees On East-West Talks

PARIS (Reuters) — NATO's permanent council today agreed in principle on East-West talks provided thorough preparations are made first.

Officials said after a two-hour council meeting that no specific time for such talks or the level at which they should be held was set by the 15 NATO members.

The first replies to Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin's December letters will be sent to Moscow next week, the officials said. The replies, including those of Canada, the United States, Britain and France, will answer all Bulganin's points and make certain counter-proposals.

Job Seekers Almost Double Feared Drowned

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP) — A massive air and sea search for three men aboard a missing fishboat was called off late Thursday. The three were presumed to have been drowned.

They were Ed Cottrell, and native fishermen Ted White and William Cooper, all of the Port Simpson area north of this coastal city.

Registrations totalled 698,153 at Dec. 26, against 352,144 in mid-November. A year earlier, they were 387,327.

The December figure is the highest since the National Employment service was set up in 1946.

Demos Want Exact Blueprint Of Ike's Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats called on President Eisenhower today to back up with specific blueprints for action the eight-point program he placed before Congress and the American people Thursday.

Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Senate Democratic leader, set the show-me tone of reaction to the proposals Eisenhower outlined in his "state of the union" message. Eisenhower said they are needed to meet the growing space-era threat of what he repeatedly called "Communist imperialism."

"The president has in general terms set forth some worthy objectives," Johnson said in an interview. "He has called for strengthening of our allies, greater understanding and commerce between nations and attempts to bring peace to the world."

NEED SPECIFIC PLANS

"Now we are waiting for his blueprints for meeting those objectives. As soon as he lays them down, our committees will promptly consider his recommendations."

The Democrats control the committees because of their majority in Congress.

Although Johnson and House Speaker Sam Rayburn (Dem.-Tex.) both praised the Republican president's speech, there was mounting evidence of Democratic disappointment that Eisenhower did not make any spectacular proposals for an immediate buildup in American military might.

An analysis of the president's proposals circulated among Democratic senators said that basically the message was "long on proposals and short on performance."

"Even the program to step up national security boils down to pumping a little more money into existing projects and promising vaguely to reorganize the defence structure," the analysis said.

SERVICE BICKERING

Rayburn said he was "glad to know the president is alive to what the American people are disturbed about—and this is the bickering and dissension among the armed services."

"I hope he gives Defence Secretary McElroy the authority to get the job done regardless of who stays or who has to go."

A high administration official said Eisenhower has in mind a move to bolster the secretary of defence with additional authority over military spending.

This official said the president will personally direct the defence department reorganization plans and might recommend creation of a staff of military advisers, separate from the joint chiefs of staff, to help McElroy resolve disputes among the services.

Leading off his eight points with his reference to defence reorganization, Eisenhower called for a speedup in production of missiles, nuclear submarines and other modern weapons.

There was evident opposition, however, to his call for continuation of foreign aid at a high level and continuation of the reciprocal trade agreements act for five years.

EDUCATION PROGRAM

Many Democrats have indicated that they want to go further than Eisenhower's proposal for a billion-dollar four-year program to promote education and research.

The president will send to Congress Monday his new budget calling for $73,800,000,000 or more in spending and an increase in the federal debt ceiling, government informants say.

Eisenhower's call Thursday for efforts to bring about disarmament and peace was generally applauded, although except for a co-operative "science for peace" effort he proposed little that was new.

In London, editorial comment on the speech was lukewarm. Tass news agency reported in Moscow that Eisenhower spoke of preserving strength and working for true peace, but said most of the speech was "taken up by military problems."

PUBLIC LIKES IKE'S ADDRESS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House reported today that messages from the public on President Eisenhower's "state of the union" address are running 99 per cent in support of his proposals.

Asked about the opposition communications, press secretary James C. Hagerty said most of those took issue with proposals for continuation and expansion of foreign aid.

ably word the motion so that it would be acceptable to the CCF. A straight motion condemning the government's trade policies would be almost certain to win the support of the CCF group.

The 106 Liberals in the House plus the 25 CCF would add up to a total of 131, providing all members were on hand. The Liberals would make their decision to bring down such a want of confidence motion at a party caucus to be held immediately after the convention.

There is a group of Liberals who are advocating that the party hold back and wait two or three months before bringing down the government. But Hon. L. B. Pearson is believed to strongly favor challenging the administration immediately after the convention. If he is elected leader his viewpoint is expected to prevail in the party caucus.

The Social Credit group in the House would likely vote against the Liberal want of confidence motion and with the government. However, even if the Social Credit group went along with the government in the test of strength it is believed the combined forces of the CCF and Liberals would be sufficient to defeat the government.

Even if the Conservatives won by a narrow margin of three or four votes it is doubtful that Prime Minister John Diefenbaker would carry on. He would likely consider it as no vote of confidence in his administration and seek dissolution.

Consequently most members of parliament are preparing themselves for a winter election campaign.

Spiralling Costs Hit Lumber Firms

No Equal Rise in Productivity Says Macmillan, Bloedel President

VANCOUVER (CP)—The lumber industry, in common with the province and the whole of Canada, faces the problem of "spiralling costs without an equalizing rise in productivity," the president of Macmillan & Bloedel Ltd. said Thursday.

"I would venture to say this situation is also turning into one of the most important political problems of the day," Ralph M. Shaw told the company's annual shareholders meeting here.

"Continually rising costs without a corresponding increase in rate of production results eventually in profitless operations—which in turn lead to unemployment and this finally stops the rise in costs it is not too late."

"While costs to the lumber and other industries of wages and supplies have increased steadily, he said, 'The prices we receive for our lumber have, on the average, gone down about 12 per cent compared with 10 years ago.'"

Commenting on a strike of 6,000 pulp and paper workers which has tied up the industry for the last nine weeks, Mr. Shaw termed it "incredible" that the two unions involved should have rejected increases in pay and other benefits offered by the seven strikebound companies.

The companies' latest offer, which Mr. Shaw said would have increased wages 20 cents to a peak of $2.53 an hour, was rejected. He added:

"Considering the market outlook for our industry, I feel that the last offer... is difficult to justify from the standpoint of the shareholder, but it was evidence of the companies' goodwill to achieve a settlement in this dispute."

"Hundreds of millions of dollars worth of machinery and equipment lie idle. Family life suffers. And the longer the strike goes on, the more hardship will be spread through the economic fabric of the province."

Acts of Brig Brutality Denied By Burly U.S. Marine Sergeant

YOKOSUKA, Japan (AP)—Sgt. Robert J. Barbuti of the United States Marines today denied before a military court that he stamped on a navy prisoner's bare feet; rammed a pencil up a man's nose until it bled, or banged two sailors' heads together to the rhythm of a Mario Lanza record.

The burly former assistant warden at the Sasebo naval base brig in south Japan said he only used his foot to shove the feet of several prisoners into the proper position for attention, tapped a man's forehead with a pencil while bawling him out and struck the sailors' shoulders together—not their heads—"to shake them up."

"In time to the record?" asked his civilian defence counsel, Frank H. Scollins.

"No, sir. It never happened," Barbuti replied.

The 205-pound, 23-year-old sergeant denied all 23 counts of cruelty to prisoners charged to him except one slugging. He said that man told him: "Sir, I believe you are the fattest man in the brig."

The charges carry a total maximum penalty of more than 30 years in prison.

Barbuti is the 15th of 16 marine guards at the Sasebo brig to be tried on charges of mistreating prisoners. Eight have been convicted and six acquitted of lesser charges, but the U.S. Navy Pacific command reversed four of the convictions.

Barbuti also denied earlier testimony that he squirted shaving cream into a man's mouth and ears, kicked a man on the head as he followed orders by crawling on the floor like a dog, or drew a bayonet across a prisoner's bare chest.

'WE ARE ALL BAD SEED'

Deranged Mother Kills 3 Tots

RENO, Nev. (AP)—"We are all bad seed" read a note left by a wealthy insurance executive's estranged wife.

Her bullet-torn body and those of the couple's three children were found side by side Thursday on a bedroom floor of their $50,000 home.

Victims of what police described as child killing and suicide were Mrs. D. Yvonne Cavanaugh, 34, recently released from a mental hospital, and her children, Anthony, 9, Carol, 8, and Kevin, 4.

Robert Cavanaugh, who had been separated from his wife more than six months, was in Chicago when the shootings occurred.

Police told of blood-spattered and bullet-pocked upstairs walls, indicating that Mrs. Cavanaugh may have chased and shot the children in various rooms before bringing the bodies in a row on a blanket in her lavish bedroom.

The children's bodies were riddled by bullets from a .25-calibre automatic found beside their mother.

Police said more than 20 shots had been fired.

A maid, Dora Lee Halley, found the bodies when she came to work Thursday. A note tacked to the door said: "We are all bad seed. There never were four more unhappy and unhealthy people, and it's getting worse every day."

Two-Alarm Fire Sweeps Ottawa Area

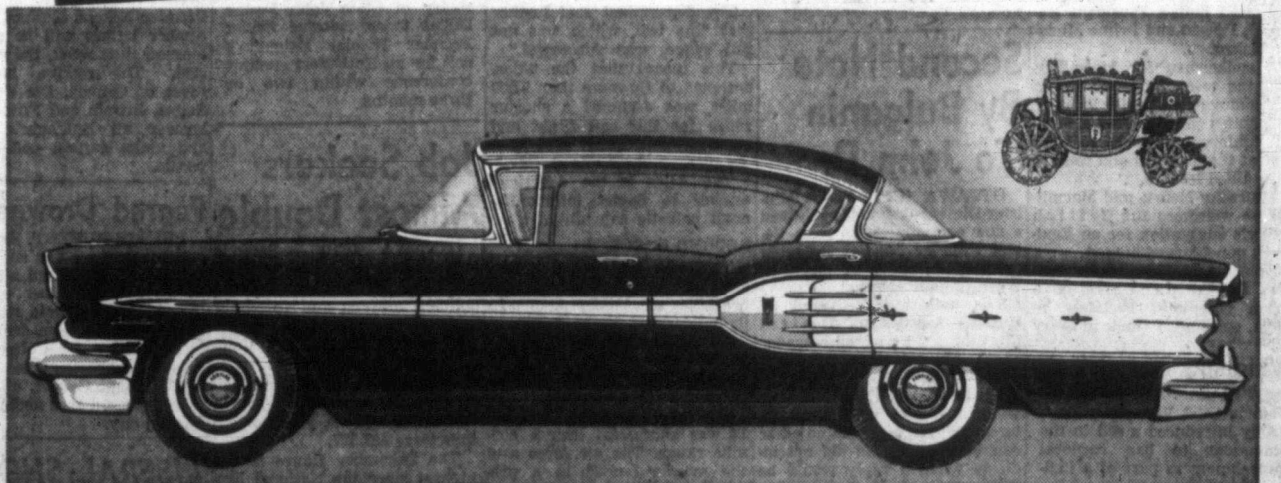

OTTAWA (CP)—A two-alarm fire which swept through a four-storey building in Ottawa's populous By-Ward Market area, oldest section of the capital, raged for 2½ hours before being brought under control.

The blaze broke out about 9 a.m. almost a year to the day that a $1,000,000 fire destroyed half a city block only a short distance away. Firemen had it under control by 11.30 a.m. but smoke and steam still poured from the building.

Winch Urges Action To Aid Drug Addicts

(From Times News Services)

Harold Winch (CCF-Vancouver East), said Thursday night the various governments of Canada "should hold their heads in shame" because they have done nothing about drug addiction.

Mr. Winch won a sympathetic response in the House from Justice Minister Davie Fulton.

Mr. Fulton said "no one can be happy that there are 5,000 addicts in Canada." He had been in consultation with Health Minister Monteith on this matter and was just as concerned with the problem as was Mr. Winch.

But there were many conflicting opinions on how best to deal with drug addiction. When the government moved on the problem, it wanted to "do so on a sound basis."

Mr. Winch said drug pedlars should get the harshest penalty the government wished to devise. But addicts should be "handled as persons who were ill, not as criminals."

Mr. Fulton said Mr. Winch's view, on the face of it, makes common sense.

Penal System Revamping Planned

Earlier, Mr. Fulton said he hopes to call a conference of provincial attorneys-general "in the reasonably near future" to discuss a revamping of Canada's penal system.

He said he expects before long to present to the cabinet a number of suggestions, including some 15 to 20 amendments to the criminal code, to implement recommendations of the Fauteux Committee on remissions of prison sentences.

He told Mr. Winch during study of his departmental estimates, that the government already has initiated some action on its own.

For example, automatic parole review of sentences—suggested by the committee headed by Mr. Justice Gerald Fauteux of the Supreme Court of Canada—already had been instituted in three penitentiaries and would be established in the other five federal prisons as soon as possible.

The three penitentiaries were understood to be at St. Vincent de Paul, near Montreal, Kingston, Ont., and Stony Mountain, Manitoba.

The present system requires that a prisoner apply for a parole before his case is reviewed by the justice department remissions service.

The government Thursday introduced the second of its two bills providing federal assistance to power developments in the Atlantic provinces.

The first, brought in Wednesday, would authorize the government to lend up to $30,000,000 to New Brunswick to fund the provincial debt on construction of the nearly-completed

B.C. Govt. Criticized on Sloan

Alex Macdonald, CCF member for Vancouver Kingsway, Thursday night criticized the action of the British Columbia government in "bidding for the services" of former Chief Justice Gordon Sloan of B.C.

Mr. Sloan recently resigned from the judiciary to become forestry adviser to the B.C. government at $50,000 a year. He was paid $18,500 as chief justice.

Mr. Macdonald, a lawyer, said during study of justice department estimates that he deplores "the action of a government in bidding for the services of prominent judges for work which, in this case, has inevitable political undertones."

Frank Christian (SC-Okanagan Boundary) promptly protested Mr. Macdonald's statement, adding there were no political undertones to the appointment. It was "a most excellent" appointment.

The government said Thursday it expects to take possession soon of three oil pipelines built in the Yukon by the United States during the Second World War.

A two-inch pipeline runs west from Watson Lake to a point where it links with a four-inch line. This line runs through Skagway, Alaska, to Whitehorse and a three-inch line runs from Whitehorse to Haines Junction.

Nuclear Bombs 'Over Canada'

'SURPRISED, DISMAYED'

NEW YORK (CP)—External Affairs Minister Smith of Canada told a group of American business men Thursday night that Canada was surprised and dismayed at the Dec. 24 United States decision to reduce Canadian oil imports by 15 per cent.

This American action was a "severe blow," particularly when added to others adversely affecting the Canadian economy, Mr. Smith said in a speech before the Bond Club of New York.

He said the U.S. should show understanding for Canada's trading problems. Canada was vulnerable to American economic conditions and trading policy.

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister G. R. Pearkes today in the Commons confirmed that American planes occasionally carry nuclear weapons over Canadian territory.

Mr. Pearkes said there is no risk to Canadian lives or property.

The United States was required to obtain advance permission from him before carrying out such flights, Mr. Pearkes added.

The minister was replying to W. J. Henderson, Liberal defence critic, who asked about a Canadian Press report that American planes occasionally carry atomic or hydrogen bombs over Canada.

Mr. Pearkes said the planes carry nuclear weapons but added that he would not like to distinguish between atomic or hydrogen bombs.

Time for Another Look

IN JOINING WITH SEVEN other provinces to oppose the projected $15 million increase in freight rates, Attorney General Bonner has acted to protect British Columbia producers and consumers. Only Ontario and Quebec, favored by their central location, have failed to appeal the Board of Transport ruling which would give the two transcontinental railways a 3.6 per cent raise in rates.

By postponing any rate change from the announced date of January 15 until at least March 1, the Federal Government has wisely provided time for a full review of the board's decision. There are a number of arguments which the western and maritime provinces will wish to enter. A final decision may even be delayed until after the next federal election.

The 3.6 per cent increase asked by the CNR and CPR railways would constitute the final rate jump in a series that began in June, 1956, and so far amounts to 11 per cent. As the last installment of the original 15 per cent request was being considered the railways called for an additional 10 per cent increase. The board, however, held it at 3.6 per cent.

But even this raise is subject to serious criticisms. It is held that the previous raises were sufficient to meet wage boosts that have been incurred or are pending. And in the case of the CPR, two points in particular have been brought out.

One refers to the fixed formula whereby the very complicated structure of freight rates has been set to cover the railway's operating and fixed charges, as well as dividends. But also provided for is an annual surplus of some $15 millions.

In its latest judgment the Transport Board increased this surplus by 2.4 millions. Western provinces argue that this increase is unnecessary.

A second factor involves the "tax equalization" fund, a device whereby corporations are allowed to defer a portion of their tax payments. It is held that since the CPR rates are fixed to cover tax payments which then are deferred and may subsequently be reduced, the company is in a sense enjoying an interest-free loan. In 1957 the CPR gained $9 millions in this way, to make a total of $25 millions since 1954.

The provinces hold that if provision for these two items—the increase in the surplus account and the tax deferral gain—were removed, the requested rate increase would not be necessary.

In less specific criticism, the provinces will urge the injustice to western and Atlantic provinces of a flat percentage raise in freight rates. While based on a general formula, rates cannot usually be applied uniformly. They are subject to adjustment in competitive areas, to meet special circumstances at various points, to recognize the need for encouragement of certain industries which otherwise could not ship, or to equalize conditions affecting various parts of the country. There must be much of the political, as opposed to the scientific, approach; many of the decisions must be arbitrary rather than strictly according to the book.

But all freight rate increases, no matter from what cause, constitute increases in the price of goods and hence a heavier charge against the consumer. Since the end of the war Canadian railways have increased their rates by a total of 22.5 per cent. Small wonder that eight out of 10 provinces are appealing against a further raise at this time.

Charter Disappointment

SEVERAL MONTHS AGO VICTORIA revived the campaign to secure a special charter which would free it from the Municipal Act.

The arguments in favor of a move were thoroughly canvassed at the time. They took note of Victoria's position as the capital city, of its size in relation to most municipalities in the province, the differences in its needs and theirs, and the fact that Vancouver provided an excellent precedent for a charter application from Victoria.

Now, a relatively few days before the opening of the Legislature, the City Hall interests which revived the question find they are inadequately prepared to approach the Government with an application.

The fact that the Municipal Act in its present form was passed too hurriedly and contained glaring faults is an example of what could happen to a city charter if sufficient care were not taken with its preparation. Of course a great deal of study must go into the drafting of a charter proposal. But it is disappointing to find now that the city is not ready to proceed.

If the application is to be delayed—and apparently it must be—then great care should be taken to see that Victoria is not again caught in the position in which it finds itself today. No time should be wasted. All materials for an application should be assembled as soon as possible.

The City Hall may have escaped the suspicion that it hasn't done its homework this time. It should risk no future suspicion of the kind through unpreparedness.

Death Watch on the Daily Worker

THE FATE OF THE DAILY Worker, the New York publication which has been communism's main organ in the United States, is sealed. It will go out of business next Monday.

Some days ago the National Executive Committee of the Communist Party, in secret meeting, reportedly voted to discontinue publication of the unique daily at the end of last year. Its editor, John Gates, stated he did not consider the vote binding and declared his intention to try to keep the paper going for an indefinite period.

More recently Mr. Gates has said it won't be long now. Readers of the paper at the moment are in effect conducting a death watch.

The passing of the Daily Worker, relatively unwept, unhonored and unsung, is significant, just as its existence in a democracy was significant.

To meet the conditions of democracy, it was important that a dissenting voice, no matter how strident, should be given an opportunity to be heard. Under the same system, it was up to that voice to maintain its own strength—to show that it represented enough people to justify its existence. It no longer finds a sufficient body of support to live. And its angel, the Kremlin, has thrown it over.

Here again the reading public of North America has an opportunity to judge the significance of publications like The Daily Worker. As long as the paper parroted the Moscow line without deviation, it received blood transfusions from Russia. But Mr. Gates, very mildly indeed, moved away from the changing attitudes of the Kremlin. He apparently failed to keep up with the shifts on Stalin and he suffered from the impact on communists in the West of the Hungarian subjugation. He seemed to place too much trust in the so-called liberalization move of the earlier Khrushchev days. Now he has been jettisoned.

The public may, or may not be interested in the demise of The Daily Worker and the retention only of the weekly Worker as communism's main voice in the United States. But the public will appreciate the fact that much better papers than the Daily Worker have gone under in the highly competitive field which is the publishing business today.

A Wise Move

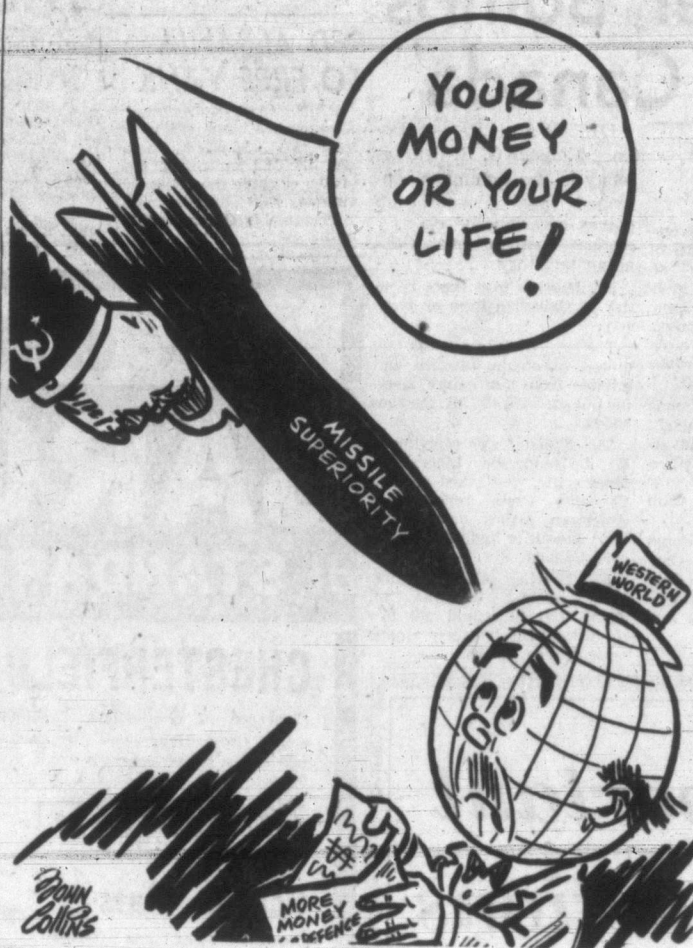

THERE WAS WIDESPREAD gratification, far beyond the boundaries of this city, when the CPR announced that it had decided to reopen the main dining room of the Empress Hotel for the Centennial year.

"The Empress," with its stately beams and gracious portraits, is more than a dining-room; it is an institution, much beloved by travelers around the world.

It would be a shame if, in this Centennial year, visitors had to be deprived of the excellent service which this venerable room provides. Even if the economics of dining-room operations are severely strained, the CPR is to be congratulated for making this contribution to a most vital year in the "visitor industry."

REPEL BOARDERS!

By B. A. TOBIN

One for All, All for Nothing

ONE of the oddest characteristics of man is his ability to forgive and forget lesser enemies when a high-priority hatred demands attention. You see it in the lower echelons of society, when squabbling brothers and sisters form a quick truce and combine to fight off a vituperative onslaught from the kids next door. And everyone has heard a story or two of the man who intervened to settle a fight between husband and wife and quickly found himself avoiding a joint attack from both of them.

Tobin

There's nothing like an outside threat to foster co-operation among quarrelling factions. The three little pigs can act as one when the big bad wolf is around. Players from rival local teams easily unite to form an all-star team against outside competition.

Space Attack

Mr. Lester Pearson, whose scholarly lectures and writings show that he looks farther below the surface of things than most of the men and women in his profession, alluded to this human trait the other day in a speech at Ottawa. He told his audience that in some ways the best spur to peace among the nations of the world would be for some outside threat to appear in the form of space ships from another planet.

Right away the many problems that afflict the relations between East and West on this globe would fade into nothingness before the greater danger. We would become one in our efforts to set up a defence against the intruder—regardless of how quickly we might resume our private quarrels once the outsider had been driven off.

(To keep the record straight, it should be mentioned that Mr. Pearson did not advocate such a solution to world problems. He hoped that some better way could be found.)

But the thesis is sound. Danger, like politics, makes strange bedfellows.

Rally Round

The principle of swallowing differences and uniting against an outside threat has been used on many occasions throughout history. Nothing promotes the rise of an ambitious national leader better than a chance to call on all the opposing factions to unite in order to repel an invader.

In our own time, Hitler used this principle, but with a different twist. He was not at first strong enough to challenge some other state and set it up as the enemy against which all Germans should unite. That came later.

So in order to have a focal point of hatred against which he could rally the people under his banner he was forced to find an internal enemy. He picked on the Jews as a convenient threat against which all non-Jews could be exhorted to unite. And he had considerable success.

In the case of Russia, the enemy was internal to start with. The revolutionists urged that all good Russians unite against the rulers and nobility. Then it was the turn of the bourgeoisie.

But when that situation had been stabilized, there were still occasions on which it was necessary to make the people forget their internal animosities. The foreign "capitalist-warmongers" were the obvious target. And when the Russian people showed unrest they were quickly called on to unite against the outside dangers that were said to threaten them.

It takes little imagination to see that in a similar way Americans, British, Canadians, Russians, Yugoslavs, Chinese and others could quickly be fighting shoulder to shoulder to repel the menace of a Martian invasion.

Perhaps we could adopt the idea of the internal enemy as a unifying force, in the absence of inter-planetary threats. For instance, the nations of the world have co-operated to a considerable degree, regardless of ideologies, in furthering the international geophysical year and uniting to "fight" against ignorance of our physical environment. To a certain extent there was co-operation in reporting and preparing to combat the world-wide sweep of Asiatic flu. Map's fight against weather calls forth a considerable amount of co-operation.

The Wide View

A natural disaster—flood, earthquake, famine, or the like—frequently breaks down artificial boundaries as human beings try to help each other without thought of nationality.

Some such thought was behind President Eisenhower's proposal yesterday for an international "science for peace" campaign.

Is it possible that some world-wide crusade could be organized that would overcome national considerations and put the globe first? A global war against ignorance, against disease, against poverty? It might be possible but not likely.

It takes a greater danger—a threat to life itself—to break down established antagonisms and achieve full co-operation in our present stage of development. The lion and the tiger will gallop side by side to escape the over-riding danger of the forest fire. But as soon as that menace has subsided, they revert to type. Human, aren't they?

Saanich Taxes

"Are we going to lose our homes in Saanich?" This is the question that many have been asking themselves since receiving their new assessment notices.

We were amazed to note, that the assessment on improvements, had been increased $1,165. We have made no improvements on our property since we bought it, other than to keep it tidy.

We would very much like to know just what improvements Saanich has made to warrant any increase, never mind such a huge one.

There is no sidewalk or boulevard in front of our home, just an open ditch, which hardly increases the value.

The sewer has been put in, but who is paying for that? The property owner, both in direct increase in our taxes, and also in cold cash. We have paid $70, plus the cost to connect to the road, which was $180, in our case.

It is the property owner, in any district, that provides the bulk of the money to run things. If taxes are going to go up at this rate, many people are going to lose their homes for unpaid taxes. The owner forced to sell, will also find the high taxes a deterrent to any buyer.

It would only seem sensible, that some sanity has got to be shown in regard to what the property owner can cough up in taxes.

When the assessment rises $1,165 in one year, for no improvements, it does seem beyond all reason.

One wonders if this isn't another example of the so-called advantages of the Social Credit Government. We are given a $25 tax rebate with one hand, and twice as much taken away with the other.

Why Don't We Work?

Most of your recent issues have called attention to the alarming increase in unemployment, and the likelihood that it is to grow worse. This is a tragic state of affairs in a country like ours.

But there is really no need, for any able bodied man or woman to be out of work in this Province where opportunities are so great for further development; and the time has come when employers and employees should seriously ask themselves what has brought about this state of affairs.

The truth is we have been, and must continue to be, an exporting nation, but our markets abroad have largely dried up. Our wheat remains unsold, our lumber is stacked in piles without a buyer, our mines are closing down and our merchant marine is no more.

There is but one reason: our high cost of production, of which high wages is the chief factor. We no longer can compete in the markets of the world. We are paying the highest wages of any country in the world, but now our men are being let out of work, with no wages at all. The philosophy of more pay for less work has run its course and we see where it has led us.

Big business, too, never satisfied with reasonable profits, will now have time to think as they look at their multi-million dollar plants lying idle, and their vanishing reserves, while their shareholders wait for dividends that do not come.

Now just as soon as men and women decide to work for what their work is worth in world markets, everyone of them can go back to work and keep at work. And just as soon as industrialists make up their minds to be satisfied with a reasonable margin of profit they can open their closed plants and begin to recover the markets they have lost.

Government spending and unemployment insurance is not the answer. It has never worked and never will work except in an emergency.

An example of the way to solve our unemployment problem is to be seen in West Germany. There is a country that was beaten, broken and bankrupt a dozen years ago. Today it is one of the most prosperous countries in the world.

The answer is simple: their men and women went to work for what their services were worth in a world market and prosperity came to them. While this was going on we were captivated by the philosophy that less and less work for more and more pay would bring in the millennium.

Agency of Good Deeds

Alderman McEwen seems to be confused in his ideas of SPCA work if he considers the SPCA detrimental to the Community Chest.

How can any humanitarian organization be detrimental to any cause, especially when it deals with living beings, two legged or four? All suffer life's miseries with its cruelties, neglect, pain, cold and hunger.

Dog pound operations are only a minor part of SPCA duties, as the name implies. The Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

When one thinks of cattle shipments, slaughter houses, zoos, riding stables, circuses, aviaries, farm markets, fur farms, exhibitions, hunting, rodeos, etc.—cases concerning all of which at one time or another come before our courts—one realizes how broad is the scope of the work. All these enterprises whether they be for profit or pleasure have to be constantly inspected which takes a great deal of time and money.

The old folk, the poor and needy also appreciate the assistance the SPCA gives, as their pets are often the only joy or companionship they have.

The Provincial Government issued the Act of Incorporation for the establishment of the BCSPCA in 1885 and it would be very propitious at this time to summarize the objects of the society:

To prevent cruelty where and when possible, to promote the welfare of living creatures, to enforce laws, institute criminal proceedings when necessary, to promote new legislation for the welfare of animals, to encourage and carry out educational programs, to form and establish branches, to provide shelter for the care of sick, injured lost or strayed animals, domestic or wild, and so on. One can see there is no end to the extent of work the society would do if funds were available.

During my thirty years of membership in the SPCA I have been repeatedly astonished at the vast amount of unintentional suffering caused by uninformed persons. Eternal vigilance is necessary.

Open Sunday

Just recently I read a letter by a person by the name of T. Fox-Decent.

I really can not see anything wrong with an open Sunday. If these people are so worried about sports or movies being played on Sunday, they certainly are not being forced to go. They can sit home just the same.

If a person is going to be "corrupted" as this person puts it, I'm sure an open Sunday won't affect him. In fact, I think it will take a lot of these roaming teen agers off the streets. Also it will provide opportunity for the working man to relax.

I always attend church on Sunday or even during the week, but I certainly would not hesitate to see a movie or even sports on Sunday. I wish people would realize that this is 1958, and the pace of living has naturally changed. If we don't fight for what we want people will walk right over us, and we stand there and cannot figure out how they get ahead.

FROM WASHINGTON

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Armaments and Attitude

THE returning Congress will be more than willing to vote, indeed it will be insistent upon a substantial increase in military expenditures. The President can have the money he asked for, and as a matter of fact, he is likely to be criticized because he has asked for too little rather than because he has asked for too much. The realization that the country has struck home that in the race for armaments the Soviet Union is moving at a faster rate than we are, and that the time is in sight when the balance of power will be decisively against the United States.

Lippmann

What is not so certain is whether the country has been made to realize that the insecurity in which we are beginning to live cannot be overcome by weapons alone—that, to put it concretely, American insecurity cannot be cured in the Pentagon alone, no matter how it is reorganized, streamlined, unified, and financed. The fact that we have fallen behind in the race is the result of a decline in our intellectual activities and of our public energies.

Ominous Default

This ominous default cannot be corrected by a crash program in which it becomes our supreme national purpose to acquire a supply of missiles. For if we whip ourselves into an hysterical fixation on missiles, we shall—just as surely as fate itself—alienate the Allied countries in which the bases for the missiles would have to be placed.

We can achieve the security, which we now believe to be threatened, only if our military effort—though firm and decisive—is part of a much larger revival—one which includes our diplomacy and our education and the intellectual life of the nation.

We shall have missed the point of the challenge to which we are put if this Congress, having voted an increase in the military budget, turns its back on education and research, and settles for some trifling and timid contribution.

The American crisis today is the result of a long accumulation of errors and neglect in the field of education. And while it cannot be cured by money alone, it cannot be cured without money, without much more money. It cannot be cured without a change in the popular attitude toward the support of education. By existing standards this would constitute a break-through to a new and higher level.

Nothing would so stimulate the United States as the demonstration that we have read the meaning of the Sputniks, not as frightened men rushing excitedly for weapons but as lucid and honest men, unafraid and unashamed to admit their failings. Nothing, moreover, would do so much to restore the confidence of mankind in the United States, and to dissipate their fear that we have lost our nerve.

But that will not be enough. We shall have to reappraise some of the principal aims of our foreign policy in view of the fact that our military preponderance has ended.

No Illusions

For let us have no illusions. If we do everything recommended in the Gaither and the Rockefeller reports, we shall at best maintain the balance of power. We shall still be only one great power competing with an equally great power. The days of our military supremacy were brief and they have ended.

The decay of U.S. foreign policy is due to the inability of those who make it to recognize or to accept the fundamental fact that the United States is not the paramount but is only an equal power. Yet in the Far East, in the Middle East, and in Germany, the official aims of our policy are those of a paramount power. These aims can be achieved only by the unconditional surrender of China and of Russia.

This underlying contradiction is the basic cause of the decay of our foreign policy, and incidentally, it is the basic cause of the fabulous unpopularity of Secretary Dulles. We are struggling stubbornly for results that we cannot hope to achieve, and this impetus, especially when it is covered with moral preachments, is alienating the people we are trying to lead.

Go! Go! Go!

A FEW OF us old barnacles who grow crustily by the water spent a couple of evenings this week at the edge of the Y pool.

We were helping Archie stage Canadian record attempts for some of his swim kids.

The kids did very well. They bettered listed marks for half a dozen events and the club will make application for recognition of their times as new Canadian junior records.

Once the names of the youngsters go onto the record sheets and are formally approved by the governing body of swimming in Canada, a local conviction will be proved.

The conviction is that the Victoria Y develops some of the best young swimmers in Canada. That seems important to me, because I have water on the brain—always have had.

The performance of the Victoria juniors is no surprise to Archie McKinnon.

"Why shouldn't they be good?" he asks. "The Y has as good a coaching staff as you'll find almost anywhere. Look at them and their records. Jack Todd has been a stand-out in breast stroke. Bob Johnstone held Canadian freestyle records when he was competing. Joan Langdon McLagan swam on Canada's Olympic team. So did Denny Walker. And Gordie Lawrence and Bill Turkington were the best we had around here in their competitive days."

The coaches have kept up with modern developments. They've taught their charges the techniques of various strokes. The youngsters have had every opportunity to become first-class swimmers. Now, says Archie, it's up to them.

WHAT IT TAKES

To be a top-notch swimmer a person needs, first of all, physical ability. With it must go a good, competitive heart. The boy or girl has to be taught to get the most out of latent abilities. After that it's a matter of conditioning, conditioning, conditioning.

The kid also has to know that to hit the top rungs of the ladder he has to make sacrifices. He can't be a playboy and neglect his swimming if he wants to be the best.

Stott

There's a lot of work attached to the climb to stardom.

Because we old barnacles figured the youngsters at the Y had been working fairly hard—even if they didn't let their Christmas holiday intensified training sessions interfere too much with their Christmas holiday parties—we didn't mind putting in time at the pool this week. The performance of the boys and girls justified the demands on those of us who went down.

Anyhow, most of us were just paying back a debt we incurred when an older generation provided similar service for us.

Actually there's not too much work attached to clocking and recording these attempts. All you need is a batch of stop watches and a magnifying glass to help aging eyes read them. The coaches and the youngsters put forth the real effort.

There's a satisfaction that is more general than gratification to old swimmers in seeing the new crop break records.

THE SAME GENERATION

The boys and girls who swam this week so successfully are members of a generation that takes a fair amount of kicking around from their elders. These are teenagers, scatter-brained as most by adult standards, and possessing the characteristics of their age.

But they proved down at the Y that they can swim faster than grown-ups of today swam when they were young. In the water, standards are improving. One of the marks that fell, incidentally, was established by a local boy who made Canada's Olympic team and held a lot of Canadian championships in his time.

Unless you're in deep water with no means of support except your own resources, swimming isn't the most important thing in life. It's a grand sport and wonderful exercise. But there are more abiding accomplishments.

At the same time, swimming, as it is done today by the present crop of teenagers, could provide a reasonably good index of advancement.

If the youngsters have improved substantially over those of an earlier day when it comes to moving through the water, is there any reason to believe that they're lagging behind in other fields? It's something to think about.

UN CORRESPONDENCE

By STANLEY BURKE

Rally Round the Flag

NEW YORK—New York papers have been filled with New Year's exhortations to rally round the flag boys. Most writers view with appropriate alarm and conclude that the United States can meet the Sputnik challenge if it will put shoulder to wheel, pull in belt, ear to ground, while at the same time maintaining a strong defensive posture.

But the thing which astonishes a Canadian is that there has been almost no mention of strengthening the United States and the Western community through trade.

This would seem to be fundamental, the only really effective way of strengthening the Western community but the United States still seems to be looking more inward than outward in an almost desperate search for strength and inspiration.

It has been said that Americans, like Russians, are instinctively inward-looking because they are a continental people, because they have grown to strength and prosperity through internal trade. Canadians, like the British, are international traders and outward looking.

This makes a good deal of sense. Certainly it's been conspicuous that ringing, decisive calls for creation of a Western economic community have come in recent days from British sources.

MERGER VITAL

Barbara Ward, the noted British writer on economics and world affairs, called for action by free men which she says can leave the cumbersome, inflexible Communist system "as far behind the West as the anthropoids have left the dinosaurs and the mastodons."

Sir David Eccles, president of the British Board of Trade, proposed an "economic merger" of the United States, Commonwealth and Western Europe.

"We must make this merger or lose all," he warned. "For the warships, aircraft, bombs and bases will avail us nothing if our flanks are turned and our Allies desert us on the economic field. Then efficient slavery would have defeated inefficient freedom."

The British cabinet minister pointed out that Britain is already taking steps to integrate her economy with that of Western Europe.

Barbara Ward said much the same thing in more inspired language: "This surely is a competition into which our competitive society can enter with zest and confidence. We are being challenged to do exactly what we are best fitted to do by training and temperament and tradition. It is as though the Russians, instead of issuing a challenge at their traditional game of chess, offered to take the Americans on at baseball."

"Production, expansion . . . rising standards for all—could the free nations, with America at their head, be asked to achieve anything more congenial to their national genius . . ." she asked.

She pointed out that in four years, between 1940 and 1944, the American economy doubled its scale. She recalled how, after the war, this great productive system, through the Marshall Plan, poured goods into Europe which not only made up for war devastation but 20 years of pre-war stagnation.

Such a great effort can be undertaken again, she said, as long as the West will "accept the challenge and . . . make it the central fact of the free-world's political and economic co-operation."

WORKING PARTNERSHIP

"From a group of divided, squabbling nations, anxiously looking over our shoulders to see what Russia is up to next, we can become a working partnership, setting our goals, sweeping forward with our own work and spurred on by the momentum of our own achievement."

However, it's easier to preach than to practice. Canadians might recall the panic which set in at last fall's Mont Tremblant Conference when Britain threatened to declare free trade on us. Similarly, at the recent NATO Summit Conference, Britain is said to have blocked an American proposal to standardize NATO weapons and integrate production capacity. And the United States, while preaching co-operation in Paris, was cutting off Canadian oil in British Columbia and preparing to raise tariffs on base metals.

Judging from New York papers and from talk around the United Nations it would seem the United States is still not so much grasping for the stars as groping for a hangerover remedy.

Revenge for 'Ivan'

BERLIN (Reuters) — Jergen Gradke, 19, an East Berliner, has been jailed for five months for painting the anti-Russian slogan, "Ivan go home," on a factory wall, the anti-Communist investigating committee of free jurists reported Thursday. An East Berlin court convicted him of "anti-social" behavior.

Big Legal Fund For Teamsters' Bosses Planned

Aim at $2 Million From Assessments

CHICAGO (UP)—About 2,000 officials of the giant Teamsters' Union today faced assessments of $1,040 each to build a two-million-dollar fund for their own defence should they "run into legal difficulties."

Harold J. Gibbons, St. Louis, a vice-president of the union and top aide to president-elect James R. Hoffa, told of the assessment Thursday at a meeting of teamster officials from 13 midwest states.

Gibbons said Hoffa had nothing to do with planning the fund and added "most teamster officials are under attack one way or another."

"I suppose Hoffa will benefit from the fund, though," Gibbons said. Promissory notes were handed out to the officials during the meeting, authorizing union payroll deductions of $10 weekly for two years and providing for an 8 per cent penalty for overdue payments.

Gibbons said the fund drive was on a voluntary basis, and no union official had to contribute.

CBC ORDERED TO FACE TRIAL

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Court of Appeal Thursday refused a request by the CBC Thursday for an order barring hearing of a charge brought against the CBC under the Lord's Day Act. The decision was by a 3-to-2 vote.

Charges laid against Toronto's three daily newspapers and radio station CKEY have been adjourned several times since last spring while the outcome of the CBC's appeal has been awaited.

Charge Dismissed On Store Hours

A charge against a Saanich grocer of failing to close his store in accordance with a municipal by-law was dismissed in Saanich police court Thursday.

The charge against Henry Eng, owner of Outdoor Market, Quadra, was laid last fall on complaint that Eng kept open for business after 12 noon on Monday half-holiday, Oct. 28.

A second charge for the same offence Dec. 9 was withdrawn by prosecutor Kenneth Murphy.

"There is no doubt that the shop remained open," said Magistrate H. C. Hall. Eng admitted closing for a few minutes, then reopening the premises.

"The question is regarding validity of the by-law."

He noted provision in the Municipal Act to allow local legislation on store closing included the words "for the serving of customers."

The by-law reads only "shall be closed."

RED NOTES GO AROUND WORLD

MOSCOW (AP)—Moscow radio said today that Premier Bulganin's proposal for top-level talks on lessening international tension went to almost every country in the world.

Bulganin Letters Snarl Ike's Talk

LONDON (AP)—Premier Bulganin's latest Russian proposal for summit talks has blunted the impact on Western European opinion of President Eisenhower's call for peace through strength.

The American leader had to share newspaper space here with Bulganin, and in some cases even received less attention than the Soviet premier.

In Washington the Bulganin proposal got intensive study and a cold reaction in official circles.

There were no immediate signs here that Bulganin had caused new divisions of opinion in Western ranks.

Rather, Western Europe's newspapers gave their readers the impression that Eisenhower and Bulganin were engaging in a dialogue of peace—a conversation that did not fit together too well but was of tremendous importance for the entire world.

Except in the Communist papers, editorial writers support the lines of the president's state of the union message. But there are doubts whether the president can secure final congressional approval for his expensive and complex program.

Bulganin's note said the Kremlin is preparing to call a summit conference at Geneva "in the course of the next two or three months."

Bulganin not only had his proposals hit world news channels while these channels were handling the Eisenhower message, but the Soviet Premier made his latest move while the Western powers still were considering their replies to messages from him last month.

'Just Wanted to Destroy' His Trouble-Causing House

Father of a man charged with setting fire to the house he built last Sept. 1 testified in Saanich police court Thursday his son was "drunker than I'd ever seen him," on the day of the offence.

Emerson Eugene Michael, 4384 Robinwood, has pleaded not guilty to the charge of arson. He is represented by George Gregory.

Magistrate H. C. Hall remanded the case to Jan. 16 for judgment.

Charles Ellison Michael, 1702

Belmont, said he saw his son when the accused came to his room on Belmont at about 11 a.m. Sept. 1.

The offence occurred about mid-afternoon.

Michael senior said: "He was drunker than I'd ever seen him. Drunker than I'd ever seen anybody."

The father knew his son to have been a heavy drinker at times, he said.

Defence counsel said the defence was that while the accused set fire to his house there was no intent to defraud. The intent to set fire was to destroy something which was a source of dissension between himself and his wife.

Michael was earlier quoted as saying after the fire, "I built it myself, and she called it little Oakalla."

DRUNK

The accused said he had been drinking for three or four days prior to Sept. 1, and at that time was drunk.

He said he had more to drink that day, argued and struggled with his brother-in-law, argued with his father and with his wife.

He and his wife had disagreed about the house since they occupied it last June, he said.

"I just wanted to destroy the house. If it was going to cause trouble all the time, I was going to destroy it," he told the court. Again he said, "she called it little Oakalla."

"I'd worked hard on the house, and it kind of hurt my feelings when she called it that."

REPAIRED

Since the fire and his release from custody on bail, Michael has fully repaired the damage by fire, which was slight, and added a back porch.

"Did you have any intention to defraud when you burned the house?" his counsel asked.

"No, I did not," the accused said.

Prosecutor Ken Murphy said the mere destruction of a house or building satisfies the Criminal Code, that it is not necessary to prove intent to defraud. "Anyone who wilfully sets fire . . . is guilty," he quoted.

Chess Triumph

HASTINGS, England (CP)—Paul Keres of Russia won the International Chess Masters' tournament here with seven wins, one draw and one defeat in the nine-round match.

Acclamation Seen For Two VLC Posts

Two Victoria Labor Council members appeared headed for election by acclamation to the 1958 slate of officers Wednesday night.

A. W. Toone and James Penock were the only ones nominated for the posts of secretary-treasurer and sergeant-at-arms respectively.

However, nominations can be reopened prior to the election Jan. 29.

Eight others were nominated to the remaining three posts on the executive. They were:

President, Robert Barrie, incumbent; Jack MacKenzie, IWA delegate, and Ed Staley, retiring first vice-president. First vice-president, Mr. Staley and William Gaud, CLC representative. Second vice-president, Ed Haw, IWA delegate; A. A. Playfair, office workers' delegate, and James Moffat, carpenters' delegate.

Single nominations for five committee chairmanships were made. They were: Percy Raymond, legislation; Mr. Moffat, public relations; Mr. MacKenzie, education; and Donald Douglas, unemployment.

Contests were assured for two other chairmanships when James Bellevance, hotel workers; Neil Hindle, boilermakers, and Bruce Loudon, machinists, were nominated for political committee, and C. M. Preston, boilermakers, and H. B. Ward, teamsters, were nominated for credentials committee.

Pamir Wreck 'Note' Fake Owners Claim

LUEBECK, West Germany (Reuters)—The owners of the ill-fated sailing ship Pamir Thursday branded as fake a message in a bottle—found on an English beach—that blamed the captain for the disaster that took 80 lives.

The unsigned message, allegedly written by a Pamir merchant marine cadet while the ship was sinking in an Atlantic hurricane last Sept. 21, was found Sunday on the southwest tip of England.

The message was read before a maritime board investigating the sinking of the 3,020-ton vessel.

The message said in part: "We have all got to drown, man and mouse. Why? Because Diebstich is incapable . . . he kept the sails up too long . . . he tried to take pressure off the full sails by turning into the weather. This was the greatest folly and our end . . ."

Spectator 'Fingered' When Accused Missing

The accused was nowhere to be seen.

A mild-mannered court spectator, who just wanted to see "Canadian justice at work," wound up in the witness stand.

A private detective told him he purposely broke his false teeth to get evidence to support a charge of illegal dentistry practice.

This all happened in a weird sitting of Saanich police court Thursday.

It was the trial of Norman Mallard, 122 West Burnside, accused of practising dentistry illegally at 290 West Burnside. A plea of not guilty was entered by Mallard's counsel, George Gregory.

In more or less chronological order, here is what happened. Private investigator Robert Charles Blisshen, first witness called by prosecutor Kenneth Murphy, said he went to 290 Burnside and asked a man there, "later identified as the accused," if he would replace two teeth in his upper plate.

GROUND THERE

Blisshen said he called back in an hour, with his wife, and the new teeth had been inserted. The fit wasn't too good, so the accused ground them down.

The charge was $5, the investigator said.

"I gave him the money," he said, "and asked for a receipt. He told me he didn't usually give receipts, that it took too much time, but he gave me one."

Blisshen identified a receipt, signed by "N. Mallard."

CONFUSION

Under cross-examination by Mr. Gregory, Mr. Blisshen said he was employed in this case by the College of Dental Surgeons.

He said the accused had not solicited his business.

Blisshen and his wife were asked if they could see anyone in the courtroom they could identify as Mr. Mallard.

Mrs. Blisshen picked out a man in the gallery who, she said, resembled him.

The man, looking a little shocked, took the stand.

He said he was Harold Alexander of Glen Lake Road, had never practised dentistry.

He explained in his Old Country accent he had simply come into court to watch "Canadian justice at work."

SAME MAN?

Magistrate Hall noted the charge was again Norman Mallard but the only evidence presented concerned one "N. Mallard." Were they the same man?

The prosecutor replied: "I'm just as confused as anyone. But a charge was laid against Norman Mallard. A summons must have been served because there had been a not guilty plea, and we have had a trial. If Mr. Mallard hadn't appeared, he certainly had been represented by counsel."

At this point, Magistrate Hall took what seemed to be the logical course. He remanded the whole mixup to Jan. 16.

KOERNERS GIVE $375,000, UBC FUND $3.8 MILLION

VANCOUVER (CP)—The University of British Columbia has received a gift of $375,000 from Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Koerner, which will allow it to build a new library wing without delay, Paul E. Cooper, general manager of the University's Development Fund, announced today. Mr. Koerner is president of Alaska Pine and Cellulose Limited.

Dr. Norman A. MacKenzie, president of the university, described the gift as "a magnificent testimony to the importance which industry attaches to higher education."

VANCOUVER (CP)—The University of British Columbia Development Fund drive has raised more than half its $7,500,000 objective. Chief Justice Sherwood Lett of the executive committee announced Thursday the total after four days is $3,823,987.

DECISION DEFERRED

Stormy Comment At Milk Hearing

NANAIMO—Proposed removal of the 71-cent differential in the price of 100 pounds of milk on Vancouver Island and the mainland drew stormy comment at a hearing of the B.C. Milk Board here Thursday.

E. C. Carr, chairman, and members John Honeyman and Dr. Walton Anderson heard four hours of discussion, but deferred any decision to a later date.

F. H. A. Norton, speaking for Victoria distributors, urged removal of the differential in order to let the distributors compete with packaged milk from the mainland. Additional price they are forced to pay island producers places them at an unfair disadvantage, he said.

"MORE REALISTIC"

John Tisdalle, Saanich M.L.A., said the distributors should be "more realistic" and meet mainland competition with better business and promotional methods. He said they should amalgamate if necessary.

Robert Strachan, Cowichan-

Newcastle M.L.A. and C.C.F. leader, suggested mainland producers be given the 71 cents instead of taking it away from the island producers.

William Adrain, secretary-manager of the Vancouver Island Dairywomen's Association, argued that it would be impossible for dairymen to operate with any less income than they now receive.

Joe Fall, Cobble Hill, presented figures to show that his income in 1956 was $28 per month on the sale of milk for $17.843.

William Taylor, Saanichton, said a cut of 27 cents per 100 pounds of milk had cost him $2,000 per year, and that a cut of 71 cents would put half of the dairymen on Vancouver Island out of business.

B.C. Telephone Moves To End Code Ringing

Proof that silence is golden is being given by the B.C. Telephone Company. The company is spending $61,000 on a program to eliminate code ringing on party telephone lines.

Some 8,000 Victoria telephones are now operating on a non-selective basis—that is, they ring for one other number as well as for the number called.

The job of eliminating this feature is a big one, according to E. L. Mallett, division commercial manager.

"It has to be done in two phases," he said. "The first part of the job entails changing the ringing equipment in the central office. This has been done. The second and larger part is that every one of the 8,000 telephones affected has to be changed to a type known as 'harmonic'."

"Basically, it's a matter of having telephones on party lines turned to ring only when a certain ringing current is sent out from the central office."

Crews are now changing instruments and when a subscriber's set is changed he will no longer hear any ring except his own.

Mr. Mallett said that the conversion job should be completed by spring, and when the last set has been changed, all telephones will give forth with only one ring.

Two Boys Burned Making Rocket Fuel

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP)—Two boys were injured Thursday when they tried to mix a fuel for a rocket and the mixture exploded in a classroom at St. Teresa's High School. Police said James Bagley and Richard Dixon, both 16, suffered second-degree burns on their arms, hands and faces. They said the boys had been working without supervision, and without permission of school authorities.

Novice Comes Cropper

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (AP)—Alvin Silbaugh, 17, was excused from classes for a short time Thursday to take his auto driving examination. Silbaugh passed the test and quickly returned to school. But his car skidded on a slippery driveway and smashed into the cinderella section of the building, buckling a 20-foot section of brick wall.

Pedestrian Died Accidentally; Wore Dark Clothes, Jury Told

Victoria's first 1958 traffic victim, pedestrian William Hopkins, 76, came to his death by accident, a coroner's jury decided Thursday.

Evidence disclosed the elderly man, who lived at 283 Helmcken, died of a shattered pelvis and internal bleeding when struck about 9:30 p.m. last Sunday by a half-ton pick-up truck driven by Mrs. Joan Edith Ridley, 3280 Metchoin.

The fatality occurred at the intersection of Helmcken Road and the Old Island Highway.

Mr. Hopkins was conscious when RCMP Constable F. C. W. Minty arrived on the scene, but died later in St. Joseph's Hospital.

A post mortem was performed Monday.

Mrs. Ridley testified before deputy coroner Dr. J. H. Moore she was driving towards Victoria at about 25 to 30 m.p.h.

Fit at 53, Fred Figures to Make Young Cyclists Work

By DOUG FEDEEN
CALGARY—One of Canada's most remarkable athletes will be in Victoria on June 7.

Danish-born Fred Anderson would like to make his arrival early enough to hit the finish line first in the Daily Times 100-mile Centennial Open bicycle race. But he expects there will be some faster travellers in the grind from Parksville.

"I'll make them work," he says, "but I can't quite keep up with some of those young fellow now. A few years ago it would have been different." Fred, you see, is 53.

While he doesn't expect to beat all the kids, Fred hopes that one of the members of his Calgary Cycling Club will pick up the top award of a trip, via Canadian Pacific Airlines Polar Route, to the 1958 world amateur cycling championships in East Germany.

Behind the counter of his First Street bicycle shop here Thursday, Anderson was a convincing example of his slogan—"your bicycle is your health."

"I've always wanted to visit Vancouver Island," he said. "It'll take wild horses to keep me away from your Centennial race. And don't count me out of the prize list."

"This is going to be big year for bike racing in Calgary," he said. "You can expect at least four of us for the race."

One of the entrants from Calgary may be Ralph Crebin, a former Victoria rider who is planning a return to the pedalling pastime and Anderson believes one or two Edmonton cyclists may resume racing careers in time to take part in the Parksville-Victoria marathon.

Helping the cycling revival in the foothills city is the plan of the Calgary Olympic Club to hold elimination races and sponsor three riders in the British Empire Games trials next summer. And the bicycle club has several grueling races, including a two-day, 200-mile grind from Calgary to Red Deer and return and an annual 50-mile event, on its 1958 program.

Although he will be starting his 36th season of racing this spring, Anderson is still a man to be reckoned with in distance races. The durable Dane managed to collect one second and two third-place prizes in Alberta road races last summer and finished the 300-mile Kelowna-Vancouver race despite a crash on one of the mountain roads en route.

One of the wiry veteran's best seasons was a mere 34 years ago, when he started a total of 10 races in his native Denmark and finished first, second or third in the last 16.

His peak performances were probably in 1927 and 1928, but the fact that a fellow called Henry Hansen was also at the top of his career at that time kept him from winning the Danish title.

Hansen was not only good enough to beat Anderson in a series of duels, but he also won the Olympic and world amateur road championships in 1928, the year before Anderson moved to Canada.

Anderson's rigid training routine has never allowed him to get out of condition since his arrival in this country and he has set several endurance records. Among them are a couple he set after reaching his 40th birthday.

In 1945 he set a still unbeaten mark on a trip from Calgary to Vancouver. Roads are better and the route shorter now, but Fred covered 806 miles without sleep in 71 hours and 31 minutes.

The next year he took aim at a tougher target and became the first man to pedal coast-to-coast—Vancouver to Sydney—across Canada. About 3,000 of those miles were on gravel roads, he recalls, and aches in some places were so far apart that at times he was "half starved."

When he finished his cyclometer registered 4,335 miles and despite several delays caused by mechanical breakdowns and tire trouble, he made it in 30 days.

"Roads are a lot better now," he grinned. "I could do it in 25 days now."

And don't bet that Fred Anderson, 53 years and all, wouldn't take off on another trans-Canada jaunt at the drop of a handkerchief.

Start Packing Marcel!

By The Canadian Press
Pity poor Paille.

Phil Watson, coach of the National Hockey League's New York Rangers, Thursday evening handed rookie goalie Marcel Paille a two-game "produce-or-else" ultimatum.

The "or else" would be the return of Gump Worsley from Providence of the American League and the dispatch of Marcel thereto.

Who do Rangers meet in those two crucial games this weekend? Montreal and Detroit, that's who!

If Thursday's games are any indication of what Montreal and Detroit can do to rival goalkeepers, Marcel may as well start packing now.

BIG SPORES

Both teams went on their largest scoring binge of the year. Red Wings clipped Boston Bruins 6-1 while the supposedly-crippled Canadiens—without, Doug Harvey, Jean Beliveau and Rocket Richard—walloped Chicago Black Hawks 11-3.

Twelve Habitués shared in their team's 30-point kitty. Bernie Geoffrion collected three goals and two assists, and Gene Achtmichuk called up from Montreal Royals of the Quebec Hockey League, rapped in two goals and played up an assist.

Other Montreal scorers were Henri Richard, Dickie Moore, Jean Guy Talbot, Andre Pronovost and Marcel Bonin.

The Hawk scorers were Billy Dea, Glen Skov and Pierre Pilote.

The Habs hurled 42 shots at hapless Glenn Hall in the Chicago nets, getting five past him in the first period, one in the second and another five in the third.

HOWE GETS 21st

Six Red Wings divided the scoring. Gordie Howe, in third place in the points column, collected his 21st goal to tie Geoffrion for second in that department.

Rearguard Al Arbour scored his first this year. Bob Bailey and Nick Mickoski got their first since coming to Detroit from Chicago and Johnny Wilson and Jack McIntyre bagged the others. It was McIntyre's sixth this season and all have been scored since the Hawks traded him. Vic Stasiuk scored the lone Boston goal.

Winnipeg Lands Highly-Prized End

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Willard Deweave, Southern Methodist University, signed a contract Wednesday to play football next season with the Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

Deweave, 21, second draft choice of Chicago Bears of the National Football League, said Winnipeg "made me a better offer."

It's All Yours, Pop!

Football on a silver platter is handed Frank (Pop) Ivy (left), newly-hired coach of Chicago Cardinals. Championship-calibre team would have made better presentation. Offering was made Thursday by Cards' managing director Walter Wolfner (centre) and vice-president Bill Bidwell after Ivy resigned as coach of Edmonton Eskimos to take over the NFL job.

WHL Acts to Speed Up Play; Adopts New Playoff System

CALGARY (CP)—The Western Hockey League, at a meeting Thursday, decided to revise the Prairie division's 12-man player limit, set out playoff plans and indicated that Edinburgh Trophy playoffs would be abandoned this year.

Representatives also renewed president Al Leader's contract for three years starting July 1.

There was some indication the WHL would not renew affiliation agreements with other professional leagues if it involved a draft by the American Hockey League.

League officials agreed to a strict enforcement of rules connected with play stoppages, particularly boarding and freezing the puck against the boards in end zones. They also decided on more frequent exchanges of referees between the Prairie and Coast divisions.

Playoffs this year will send the top teams in each division against each other in a best-of-seven series for the Governor's Cup. The second and third teams in each division will play a best-of-five series and the winner of each section will then meet for the right to oppose the Governor's Cup winner in the final.

CHALLENGE AFFAIR

The Edinburgh Trophy, instead of being for an established playoff between the WHL champions and the Quebec Hockey League champions, will become a challenge affair with the Western winner having the right to challenge for it.

But Leader said it was unlikely that a challenge would be made this year. There would be only a short time for a playoff at the close of the regular WHL playoffs.

The meeting decided that the playoff pool this year would be set up as in the baseball world series, with players getting 50 per cent of proceeds from the minimum number of games needed to decide the playoff series.

RESTORE 15-MAN LIMIT

Leader said that under some circumstances the 15-man player limit will be restored on the Prairies. He issued the following statement on the matter:

"The four Prairie teams, having experimented with 12-man hockey, were in favor of continuing with it. However, because of the fact they have 26 games left to play with coast clubs plus the playoffs, and the fact that the coast clubs have refused to reduce their rosters to 12 men, the Prairie clubs have agreed to return to 15-man hockey."

"However, this poses a problem for the Prairie clubs that have already reduced their rosters in anticipation of 12-man hockey. Thus it was agreed that where this has taken place the opposing teams agreed to play with the same number of men as are led by the affected club until such time as they are able to bring their rosters up to full strength."

SPANISH SOCCER FAN IS TOPS, BUT HE STILL MUST VISIT COPS

PAMPLONA, Spain (AP)—A local court Thursday handed Blas Abadia, one of Pamplona's top soccer fans, a "stiff penalty for jumping into the field during a major game Sunday and insulting the umpire."

Abadia was ordered to stay away from all games during the remainder of the current soccer season, which ends in June. He must report to the local police station at kickoff hour every time a game is played here, the court ruled.

WARRIORS PAD LEAD

Even Luce Had To Miss a Few

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Winnipeg Warriors increased their Prairie division lead in the Western Hockey League Thursday night with a 5-2 victory over Saskatoon-St. Paul Royals.

A crowd of 2,252 saw the battle decided in the first two periods, with Winnipeg leading 2-1 at the end of the first. The game was the only WHL action of the evening and put the Warriors eight points ahead of second-place Edmonton Flyers.

Bob Kabel, who scored both the Saskatoon-St. Paul markers, started the scoring when his shot from five feet inside the blue line fooled Winnipeg goalie Ray Mikulan.

Winnipeg then moved in to even the score with a pass to captain Billy Mosienko from Art Stratton. The same pair scored again in the first on another Mosienko shot.

Kabel put home his second to even the score again at 4:15 of the second period. But Earl Ingardfield answered with a pair, one on a rebound from Gordie Redahl and the other on a backhander, to give the Warriors the game.

Winnipeg defenceman Danny Summers added an insurance marker on Pete Kapusta's rebound at the 15-minute mark.

JBAA Tackles Oak Bay Club

A revised schedule has been announced for Victoria Rugby Union action Saturday, when JBAA and Oak Bay Wanderers first-division teams meet at Macdonald Park.

Another game will be played at Macdonald Park between JBAA seconds and Victoria College seconds while Wanderers second division entries will play a pick-up team from Vic College at Windsor Park.

All games start at 2:15. Players are asked to report at 1:45 p.m.

Fast Starts Recorded By Taylor, Folk Rinks

Gar Taylor of the Victoria Curling Club was off to a fast start as play opened Thursday in the annual Duncan bonspiel.

Taylor and highly-regarded Tony Folk of Duncan were the only triple winners during the first day as play extended through most of the night.

Thirty-nine rinks are entered in quest of top prizes in five events.

Taylor opened with an 8-7 win over Nanaimo's Bob Fuller rink and then went on to hammer out successive 10-5 victories against G. Thompson of Duncan and Frank Garraway of Victoria.

Folk took out three clubmates, downing Ron Harper, 10-2; Glen Harper, 10-6; and Roy Scheppart, 7-6.

Eskimo Followers Certain Pop Will Get Job Done

Ivy Leaves Edmonton Club To Coach Lowly Cardinals

CHICAGO (CP)—Soft-spoken Frank (Pop) Ivy, tabbed as the man who can "get the job done," Thursday night signed as head coach of Chicago Cardinals, a club which finished last in the Eastern Division of the National Football League this

The 41-year-old former college and professional star gave up an outstanding coaching career with Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Interprovincial Football Union to take on the chore of rebuilding the Cardinals into a contender.

At Edmonton, Ivy had amazing success in leading the Eskimos to the pinnacle of Canadian football for three successive years. His quiet but firm manner with players won him wide respect.

"He's the man we wanted from the start and he'll get the job done," said Walter Wolfner, managing director of the Cardinals.

Wolfner declined to give details of Ivy's contract but said "it is a liberal one."

The Eskimos offered Ivy more money to stay on and finish out his three-year contract which has one more year to run. But Ivy decided to make the move and the Edmonton owners released him from his contract. The release was mandatory under agreements between the NFL and the WIFU before the Cardinals could sign Ivy.

Last Saturday Ray Richards resigned as Card coach, he said, for "the best interests of everyone concerned." The Cards finished the 1957 campaign with a disappointing 3-9 record.

Both officials and fans in Edmonton were happy that Ivy, popular with everyone, apparently has what he wanted—a slot with a National Football League club and more money. At the same time, Eskimo supporters were sorry to lose him.

And, to add to the confusion of everyone, they were worried about a possible successor.

Ray Prochaska, an assistant to Ivy at Edmonton, has been offered the job "but many feel he will go to Chicago with Ivy."

Edmonton has a record of letting men go while still under contract. Darrell Royal still had a year to go on his coaching contract when the club allowed him to go to Mississippi State. Royal later went to Washington and now is coach at Texas.

Ivy's record in Canada in four seasons of league play was 50 wins and 14 losses and in playoffs, 11 wins and four losses.

There is a great deal of speculation as to what Ivy receives from the Yankees in the way of backstop remuneration. Guesses, and they are strictly that, range from $35,000 to $60,000 a year. The cut is speculated to be anywhere from $3,000 to $5,000. So you can choose your own figure.

"Just let it be said," says the grinning Ivy, "that I ain't starving."

Yogi, often held up to public view as a dimwit, is far and away from any such designation actually. He is an astute businessman with a piece of a soft drink concern and, with Phil Rizzuto, the owner of a soon to be opened 40-lane bowling alley in Clifton, N.J.

Yogi figures on getting it back come this time next year, which means that Yogi is looking forward to a good season and that, in 1958, he will be holding out as usual "for what I'm worth."

All-Stars Plan Rough Welcome For Sapperton

Victoria and District Football League All-Stars will be aiming to keep their exhibition record clean when they host Vancouver's Sapperton Athletic Club at Royal Athletic Park Saturday.

Stars have yet to suffer their first loss in this season's intercity play and manager Carl Pederson is determined that Sapperton won't be the team to break the streak.

Victoria has previously beaten Vancouver Pilseners, 3-1, and held Vancouver's Wallace Athletic Club to a 2-2 tie.

Charlie Pads Scoring Lead As Eds Win

Apparently improving every time he steps on a basketball court, rugged Charlie Boyd added 23 points to his city Seniors' B's Basketball League scoring lead Thursday night, as he paced Dairy Queen Eds to a 61-48 victory over Dickinson & Dunn at Central Junior High School.

The win, fifth in six outings, moved the Queen Eds eight points in front of the Double D's and Morrison Chevs, who are deadlocked in the runner-up spot.

In the preliminary women's games, Victoria B's dropped a 39-31 decision to Vikettes and Meteors chalked up a 21-17 triumph over Polyettes.

Cats Make Cut As Layoff Over</

No Hypocrisy In Golf Game

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)—Golf's realistic attitude toward amateurism compared with the hypocrisy of some other sports has permitted former Augusta titleholder Pat O'Sullivan to regain her amateur standing just as did such stars as Babe Didrikson Zaharias.

Most sports—such as tennis—consider it an everlasting taint for a performer to turn professional. Even playing against a pro is grounds enough for a competitor to lose Simon pure ranking for good.

But the O'Sullivan case proves again that golf, which permits amateurs to compete against pros in open tournaments, has the fairest code in sports.

The general rule in golf is that a pro can regain amateur standing after a two-year probationary period if he or she hasn't been a professional for more than five years. Sometime the period in sackcloth and ashes is shorter, as in the one-year probation of Harvie Ward who became a pro of sorts by accepting too much expense money.

"Of course, a long-time pro such as Sam Snead, Jimmy Demaret or Gene Sarazen could never regain amateur standing," says Joe Dey, executive secretary of the U.S. Golf Association. "They would never lose the advantage the years had given them."

He points out, also, that golf doesn't brand a man an all-around professional because he takes money in one sport. As a case in point, Babe Ruth was registered as an amateur golfer.

Mrs. Zaharias was an amateur and a pro twice. The Babe turned pro after making a reputation as an amateur track and swimming star. Eventually she served her penance and returned to golf as an amateur, winning the British and American crowns. Then to capitalize on her golfing ability, she turned pro again and won everything in sight before her untimely death.

It is doubtful whether Miss O'Sullivan will turn pro again. Before deciding to play for cash, she won the Augusta meet in 1951 by outscoring Mrs. Zaharias, Patty Berg and Louise Suggs. She took the Eastern amateur twice, the North-South amateur three times and six times was Connecticut amateur champion.

But two years on the pro circuit cured her. Competing in 20 tournaments, her best finish was a third in the White Mountain Open. "Expenses on the pro circuit are terrific," she explained. "And it's quite different looking at the game from the inside. For men it's possibly different. But it's more difficult for a woman to maintain that fierce competitive urge you need to be a pro."

"And now," she says with a sigh, "golf will be fun again."

Entry List Slimmer For Grand National

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A smaller-than-usual field of 56 was named Thursday for this year's 112th running of the Grand National steeplechase.

ESB, 1956 winner, and Quare Times, first in 1955, were nominated to seek new laurels over the gruelling 4½-mile, 30-jump Aintree course March 29.

Also named among the stars were Wyndburgh and Tiberetta, second and third respectively, last year, plus Carey's Cottage, third in the 1955 National.

Others include Goosander, which finished sixth after starting a 5-to-1 favorite last year, and Must, 7-to-1 favorite in the 1956 race when he fell. There was an entry of 68 for last year's race.

HOW DO YOU DOODLE?

Give almost anybody a fresh restaurant tablecloth or a telephone pad — and you end up with a bunch of doodles. It's a universal habit — and this week Helen King, authority on graphology, explains some of the connections between the weird wanderings of the doodler's pencil and his personality. It's an article you'll enjoy reading!

MODERN theories of space science hold that planets other than earth may support intelligent life. They even predict from known scientific data what these "invaders from space" will look like. The factual possibilities of contact with "men" from other worlds are reported this week in The Star Weekly by Willy Ley, one of the country's foremost authorities on space science.

CONTROVERSIAL NIXON: Few men on the U.S. political scene have caused more controversy than their vice-president... This week read Carol Kirkpatrick's comprehensive study of Richard M. Nixon, the man and politician... and don't miss "The Strangest Man I Ever Met"—the story of Wilson MacDonald, Canada's foremost poet.

... AND THE KITCHEN SINKS

Airlift Transports Entire Tofino Base

VANCOUVER (CP) — The complete RCAF base and radar station at Tofino, down to the kitchen sinks, is being moved out by a single aircraft in an operation that will reduce the air base to a ghost of its Second World War effectiveness.

A DC-4 chartered from Pacific Western Airlines carried out the first load of equipment Wednesday. The airline estimates the plane will need to make 10 flights to Vancouver.

A total of 276 permits worth $1,598,003 was issued in the area, compared with the $1,168,182 issued in 1956. The 1957 total included 101 house permits worth $1,051,362.

three to Edmonton and one to Cold Lake, Alta., to haul out the 127 tons of equipment at the base.

Tofino, on the western coast of Vancouver Island, was built at the outset of the Second World War as a defensive base against the possibility of a Japanese invasion. After the war it became part of the Pine Tree radar line across southern Canada.

It retires officially today from military duty. Its two-story barracks, mess-halls, hangars and maintenance buildings will be left to the innumerable rain and bleak winds sweeping in from the Pacific Ocean.

A skeleton staff of department of transport personnel will take up year-round residence at the base to man the control tower for the 4,000-foot airstrip.

IN COURTENAY KILLING

'Thoughtless Fool' Judge Tells Youth

COURTENAY (CP) — Magistrate John Ryland dismissed a charge of criminal negligence against an 18-year-old Courtenay youth Thursday in the shooting of an elderly garbage dump watchman last Oct. 13.

Frank Plowright, 69, died from a severed spinal cord two weeks after Orville Harris allegedly fired six or seven shots into an old shack while target practising with two friends. The youths heard groans and discovered the elderly man, who had been eating his lunch inside the hut.

"Your action of shooting at this hut without finding out if anyone was in it was the action of a fool and a thoughtless fool at that, but I do not find sufficient evidence to commit you for trial," Magistrate Ryland said at the end of Harris' preliminary hearing.

"I hope the lesson will be borne in mind by yourself and the remainder of the community," the magistrate added. RCMP testified the hut could not be mistaken for a dwelling "by the widest stretch of the imagination," and Harris' companions said it was nearly five minutes after firing preliminary shots at stumps before Harris began firing at the hut 85 feet away.

They had heard and seen no evidence of the watchman and had no knowledge a watchman had been placed on duty at the dump, they said.

Wharfage 'Pinch' At Campbell River

CAMPBELL RIVER (CP) — The need for extension of wharfage and mooring here was discussed by federal government engineers and the Campbell River Chamber of Commerce.

Chamber chairman J. D. Iac said the town will soon find itself in trouble because shipping already exceeds the facilities within the small breakwater here.

While freight is mostly brought in by truck at present, he said there is a growing traffic in scows coming from Vancouver and better loading facilities are urgently needed.

A road between Campbell

River and the west coast is expected to be opened in the spring and logging camps in that area would then be supplied through Campbell River. This would add to the harbor traffic, members of the chamber said, and the town wants to take advantage of the situation by adding freight-handling facilities.

Start in Two Weeks On Houses for Blind

The first low-rental housing project for the blind in Canada will be started in two weeks on Humboldt Street, between Vancouver and Rupert, Capt. M. C. Robinson, national director for western Canada of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, announced here today.

The project to be known as the C.N.I.B. Villas Development, should be completed by next July.

"British Columbia's blind folk can look forward to a brighter housing future from now on,"

MONTE ROBERTS

At long last, a practical plan has been devised to Save Ripple Rock.

The great advantage of this practical plan is that it immediately overcomes the objections of the forces of evil which wish to blow up Ripple Rock.

The plan, which I am about to outline, would permit the forces of evil to go right ahead and blow up Ripple Rock. The forces of evil could have the fun of their Big Boom, and the Save Ripple Rock Association would provide a Big Boon for the city of Victoria and, indeed, the whole of Vancouver Island.

The plan, in its simple essence, is this: When Ripple Rock is blown up, the pieces of same would be caught in a fleet of barges and towed to Juan de Fuca Strait.

Simple, practical, is it not?

If you are wondering how this is to be done, there could be nothing simpler.

It is a well-known fact the forces of evil who are to blow up Ripple Rock are, to say the least, engineering geniuses.

These geniuses have every detail planned, down to the last grain of powder, the last cubic millimetre of rock.

Thus they could very easily decide how high each piece of blown rock will blow, and with direction it will blow.

Then the geniuses could mark off these pieces of rock, and prior to the explosion, attach a self-opening parachute to each piece.

The fleet of barges would then be moved into the appropriate positions, and come the blow—voilà! Each piece of rock would float gently down into its assigned barge ready for towing to Juan de Fuca Strait.

And here is where the Big Boon to Victoria, and, indeed, all of Vancouver Island, comes in.

The pieces of Ripple Rock could be dumped in Juan de Fuca Strait, building a causeway from Clover Point to Ediz Hook!

On top of the causeway would be built a road. And Vancouver Island would, at long last, have its permanent connection with the mainland—the U.S. mainland, of course.

This would enable us to proceed with our long-cherished ambition to secede from British Columbia.

We would declare the Olympic peninsula a crown colony, and, instead of being the capital of B.C., this city would be the capital of the state of Washington.

Carping critics may object that the causeway would prevent deep sea shipping from passing through Juan de Fuca Strait.

The Save Ripple Rock Association has an answer for this.

Let them either dock at Victoria or go to Seymour Narrows.

The Plan, I am convinced, is practical and infallible. Let us proceed with it at once.

And, this being our Centenary, the man to supervise the plan is obviously Century Sam.

ments for married couples and single blind persons.

Each apartment will have cork-tile flooring and maximum insulation, and will be heated individually with thermostatically controlled electric units.

BIG WINDOWS

"Wide picture windows will mean brighter rooms where elderly blind pensioners and others of modest income can live happily and independently," Capt. Robinson said.

"Rents for the units will be set well within the means of blind pensioners and will include stove, refrigerator, heat, water and light."

"To keep rents as low as possible, we hope to amortize the project over a period of 40 to 50 years."

The C.N.I.B. Villas Project is being financed jointly by the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, the B.C. government, and Central Mortgage and Housing.

MORE PROJECTS

"Although this is the first C.N.I.B. low-rental housing development, it is by no means the last," Capt. Robinson continued.

"I hope to develop other similar projects in B.C., and keen interest is being shown in other parts of Canada."

He said the apartments are intended exclusively for single blind persons, blind persons with sighted husbands or wives, and blind couples.

"The reason we have gone into the low-rental housing field ourselves is because there are such great numbers of low-income blind Canadians."

"We don't like segregation of the blind, but it costs money to be blind, and if there are not enough low-rental housing facilities for all elderly sighted Canadians, we must try to provide for them ourselves."

101-Year-Old Ex-Calgarian Dies in City

Lawrence Tremaine Lea, 101, died Thursday night in hospital after 22 years of residence in Victoria.

Born Aug. 7, 1856, in Prince Edward Island, he was a general contractor in Calgary before his retirement to Victoria in 1935.

He had smoked most of his life, and on his 101st birthday said "my health couldn't be better," meanwhile puffing vigorously at a cigarette.

Surviving are his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Tremaine Lea, 1413 Andrews, with whom he made his home, and three grandchildren.

Funeral will be held Monday at 1 p.m. at McCall Bros., with Rev. A. I. Avery conducting the service.

WHODUNIT?

Up in the air about a fire that partially destroyed their tree clubhouse on a Denman Street vacant lot Thursday are president Lawrence Teele, 14, of 2201 Spring (in the clubhouse), and

NEW STORM TO FOLLOW MORE RAIN

Mild, rainy weather will continue Saturday, weatherman William Mackie said today.

There will be a few light showers tonight, he said, and cloudy skies Saturday morning will give way to rain at noon with the approach of a new weather disturbance.

Temperatures will range between a minimum of 42 degrees tonight and a maximum of 48 degrees Saturday. Winds will be light overnight, and will increase to easterly at 25 miles per hour by noon Saturday.

Glasgow Skipper Here Saturday For U.K. Ship

Capt. John Gibson will arrive in Victoria Saturday from Glasgow to take command of the British freighter Ss. Baron Inverclyde, now at Esquimalt for boiler repairs.

He is to replace the present master, Capt. Robert Reid, who is suffering from an internal ailment, and has been declared medically unfit for a long sea voyage.

Capt. Reid will be returned to his home in Scotland when Capt. Gibson arrives.

Arrangements for the transfer of command were completed today by Capt. D. McDougall, marine superintendent for the owners, Hogarth and Sons, Glasgow.

Capt. McDougall arrived here by air from Scotland Thursday. Repairs to the ship are in the hands of Yarrows Ltd., and work is expected to be finished Monday or Tuesday. King Bros. Ltd. is Victoria agent.

Rites Saturday For Sister Of Priory Here

Funeral for Sister Mary Louise Warren, OSB, 83, who died Wednesday, will be held in the chapel of St. Mary's Priory at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Born in Whitby, Ont., she was a graduate of Toronto's Trinity College and the University of Toronto in arts, and joined the Sisters of the Love of Jesus, who operate the priory, here in 1926.

From 1929 to 1939 she was principal of St. Anthony's College in Vancouver, and after the order moved here in 1941, subsequently held the posts of assistant superior and novice mistress.

She is survived by one sister, in Whitby. Interment will be in Hatley Park Memorial Gardens. Chaplin's are in charge of arrangements.

Arbitration Seen On Teachers' Pay

Greater Victoria teacher-school board salary negotiations are expected to reach a climax at a special meeting of the bargaining committees Monday night.

While neither side would issue a statement, it is understood an impasse has been reached and arbitration proceedings probably will be started.

Greater Victoria Teachers' Association Monday in a general membership meeting turned down a board counter offer equal to about 6 per cent increase over 1957 salaries. But request was made for a further meeting.

Under the provincial legislation governing school finances, contract arrangements between teachers and school boards must be completed by Feb. 14.

The meeting between teachers and board members is set for 5 p.m. At 8 the same night, the board is scheduled to meet members of city council, also for school financing and teacher salary talks.

Dr. Gordon Grant will head a 12-man medical doctor's committee while Drs. W. W. McLuhan and Alan Daysmith will act as co-chairmen of a dentists' committee.

Overall objective of the fund to be used to increase much-needed facilities at UBC, is $7,500,000.

Fund headquarters are at 850 Gordon on the second floor, phone 5-8931.

Scouts to Form Guard of Honor For Shock Victim

A Boy Scout guard of honor will attend the funeral Saturday for Sigvard Gustafson, 51, who was electrocuted Monday in an Oak Bay industrial accident.

Mr. Gustafson served as assistant scoutmaster to Third Victoria troop. Swedish and Norwegian Social Clubs and the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners also will be represented at the service.

Funeral will be held at McCall Bros. funeral chapel at 3 p.m. Saturday. Inquest is scheduled Saturday morning.

PUBLISHER'S NOTEBOOK

San Diego is a city of surprises. To an innocent Canadian, who pictured it mainly as a sprawling naval base, it was pleasant to find it a place of beautiful boulevards and buildings; of the world's second-best zoo; of a fine natural history museum boasting a stuffed rattlesnake whose tail can be animated by an electric button.

It is also the home of two good newspapers, an impressive aircraft factory (Convair) and Mom Chadwick's restaurant.

And (if you can get off the freeway) it also boasts one of the most attractive suburbs in California, at the little town of La Jolla.

High on this list of attractions is the zoo, where animals roam in a natural habitat and subsist—our young guide assured us—"on a diet of bread and fingers."

It took us an hour to drive around the zoo in an open-air bus, during which time we saw such exotic creatures as wild boar, jaguar, giraffe, dingo, emu, zebra, hippopotamus, wapiiti, and a strange form of small bear whose name I forget, but which has a tongue as long as your red necktie.

This trip was unforgettable for a number of reasons, not the least of which was a remark made by the college boy who was driving our bus. Being rebuffed by a bear after he had offered it a slice of bread, the guide shrugged and said: "He's a bit of a misanthrope."

There are interesting exhibits to be seen, too, at Mom Chadwick's restaurant—all of them having to do with daughter Flo's swimming exploits.

After standing us to an excellent steak lunch, Mom took us on a tour of her "Channel Room," which has as murals colored photographs of Flo staggering ashore at a variety of international beaches. Nearby there's a case with more than 100 of her daughter's medals, and not far away, in a place of honor, is the famous mink bathing suit which the HBC presented to Flo when she was here in 1954.

We get more queries about that bathing suit than

Quick Action Expected On Fire Hall

Old Yates Street Site Most Likely, Says Mayor

Construction of the new Victoria main fire hall on the site of the old Yates Street hall is expected to be recommended to city council Thursday.

Mayor Percy Scourrah said today he thought a decision whether or not to hold a plebiscite on the proposed $300,000 construction also would be reached.

The mayor is anxious to see the project started as early as possible to relieve the winter unemployment problem.

"We could go right ahead. The funds are ready."

He said he was sure the fire wardens committee will recommend a site for the hall at the Thursday meeting "... and it looks now as if it will be the site of the old Yates Street hall."

He felt negotiations with Greater Victoria School Board for a portion of Central Junior High School grounds are now ended.

Mayor Scourrah said the firemen's recreation room above the old fire hall has now been condemned due to roof sag. He said he moved a children's Christmas party from the hall for the same reason. It is doubtful if the roof could stand a heavy snowfall, he added.

A spokesman for Victoria Aqua Ski Club said today the change of plans appears inevitable, following the Victoria council public works committee refusal to permit a paid admission in Beaver-Elk Lake Park.

However, the water ski group will ask a meeting with city council before making definite plans for Shawnigan.

Public works committee on Thursday felt Beaver Lake was too small for such an event and proposed Elk Lake be used and a collection be taken to meet expenses. The committee held the lakes are set aside for public use and no admission charge could be made.

COST $10,000

The ski group said today costs of staging the meet will range up to $10,000, and "we can't rely on a collection."

Mountain View Auto Camp at Shawnigan offers the facilities required.

The club uses the auto camp beach and foreshore during summer months and has installed jumps. Adequate parking for large crowds has been guaranteed.

NEW OFFICERS ELECTED

G. F. Christie was elected president of the Victoria City Kennel Club at the recent annual meeting.

He succeeds Mrs. Margot Bowden who had held the office five years.

Mrs. E. M. Robertson was named vice-president, Mrs. J. W. Anderson, second vice-president, and Miss Barbara Watt was returned as secretary-treasurer.

Plans were discussed for the parlor show Feb. 1, and championship shows on March 28 and 29, to be held in the Crystal Garden.

4,530 Men Out of Work In Victoria

The male employment picture appears to be levelling off in Greater Victoria, the National Employment Service reported today.

This week male unemployed ranks rose by only a dozen. However, the figure is still high, 4,530 men and 1,379 women registered as seeking work.

There were 156 new female job seekers registered this week.

This hike was due mostly to after-Christmas layoffs in stores.

There were no mass layoffs during the week.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—What is the origin of Boxing Day? A.A.

A.—It is the name given the first week-day following Christmas, and is the day on which "boxes" were traditionally given postmen, milkmen, errand boys and others. It originated in England, and the earliest reference to the day was around 1850.

Q.—Could you tell me the year the Canadian Corps of Commissioners was founded and where the first detachment started duty? S.A.S.

A.—The corps was founded simultaneously in 1925 in Montreal and Toronto, spread to Vancouver in 1927 and has been functioning in Victoria since 1937. Corps membership across the country is nearly 5,000, 546 of whom are in the Victoria group.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Gunnar Ostberg, no fixed address, was sentenced in city police court today to one year in jail for theft under $50. Accused stole a wallet containing $5 from the pocket of a man in the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans' club at 1001 Wharf.

An overheated oil burner scorched one wall of the living room at the home of Mrs. Iola Ireland, 1036 Falmouth, Thursday night before the fire was brought under control by Saanich firemen.

Two women were taken to hospital for a check-up after they were in collision with a car while crossing Government to Fort Street Thursday at 5:15 p.m. Mrs. Eleanor Croteau, 44, of 3448 Bethune, and Marilyn Savage, 21, of 43 Cadillac, were released after examination.

Driver of the car, Victor Palmer, 2195 Guernsey, had been proceeding south on Government and made a left turn to Fort when the accident occurred, city police said.

Donald Hunt, no fixed address, was sentenced for the second time this week for cheque forgery on appearing in Saanich court Thursday.

Monday in Esquimalt court he was given nine months definite and six months indeterminate in Oakalla young offender's unit for forging a cheque for $147.86.

In Saanich court he was given the same sentence, to run concurrently, for a similar offence involving a cheque of the same denomination.

Oak Bay health unit will administer third anti-polio Salk vaccine injections to pre-school children Monday and Tuesday at the Municipal Hall. Times are 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m. Parents should bring their children if they received first and second doses of vaccine last summer.

Mayor Percy Scourrah said today several more groups and organizations have endorsed his proposal for a fast-ferry service between Sidney and the lower mainland. Victoria Chamber of Commerce and Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau has offered to contact Vancouver Board of Trade for additional support, he added.

HMCS James Bay will hold gun firing trials between Rocks and Discovery Island from 3 to 4 p.m. Wednesday. The minesweeper is on trials following annual refit.

Victoria Numismatic Society will hold its regular meeting to night at 8 in the Art Gallery.

Reeves and mayor of Greater Victoria were slated to meet later today for the first inter-municipal meeting of 1958. One member of each council also was to be present.

Ships of the Second Canadian Escort Squadron will carry out a "shoot" in Juan de Fuca Strait Thursday prior to leaving on an 11-week training cruise to the Far East.

They will leave harbor at 10 a.m., hold surface firing practice, and anti-aircraft firing practice in the afternoon. Squadron steaming exercises will also be carried out.

Involved are HMC Ships Crescent, Cayuga, Skeena, Fraser and Margaree.

Oak Bay and Victoria engineers will meet this week to measure garbage. Last year Oak Bay's garbage costs went up sharply. The city explained it was all a matter of view. When Oak Bay filled its trucks, the garbage was compacted into 13 cubic yards. But when it was dumped at city garbage wharf, it fluffed up to 19 yards. Oak Bay is willing to pay, if a mutual check proves the city is right. Engineers A. S. G. Mungrave and J. C. Garnett will take strong measures.

Major A. L. Duff Macdonell, son of Capt. and Mrs. D. Leslie Macdonell, 870 Admirals, has been promoted to that rank and posted as officer in charge of 222 Workshop, RCME, Camp Gagetown, N.B.

Since his return from Korea in 1953, Major Macdonell had been stationed in Montreal where he was officer in charge of the technical projects section of 202 Base Workshop.

William Gauld, Canadian Labor Congress representative, told Victoria Labor Council Wednesday that negotiations for new contracts between Victoria Press and the Victoria Newspaper Guild were underway.

"Of course, the press won't say anything about it. They always print other negotiations but not their own," he said.

He said that the union was demanding a 33 1/2 per cent increase for editorial department workers and 12 per cent for employees in the advertising, accounting and circulation departments.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Special Oranges in Town For Delicious Marmalade

By PENNY SAVER

This weekend we're planning to make orange marmalade! The reason? Marmalade oranges are in the produce shops at present and at a very low price.

Marmalade is quite simple to make and all the supplies you need are 10 oranges, two large lemons, sugar and water. Wash all the fruit thoroughly, cut in quarters, then in very thin slices, discarding all membrane and saving all pulp, rind and juice. Cover all with cold water in a heavy kettle and let it stand overnight. Cook in the same water until the peel is tender, then let it stand for five or six hours. Weigh the whole batch and add an equal weight of sugar. Cook to a syrup and pour into jars.

It's economical to make marmalade... especially when the special oranges are selling at two pounds for 25 cents.

It's herring time! Look out Sidney way, and you'll probably see the little fishing boats skimming about in the water, nets slung over side, picking up hundreds of herrings! There are dozens of ways to cook herring, and every one is delectable! You can have it scalloped, deviled, creamed, baked and pickled. Actually herring in any form is an economical dish to serve as it is on sale at 19 cents a pound. Have a dinner of herring this weekend and I know you'll be a popular hostess!

Let's serve some crisp, fresh vegetables with our dinner of herring. Local sweet carrots are long and large and go so well with fish. Two pounds of carrots at 23 cents would solve vegetable problems for at least two dinners... if the family is small!

This buy might appeal to you budget-conscious ladies. Brussels sprouts. "Oh no! I hear you say! For my large family Brussels sprouts are much too expensive." Not today, however, because these firm, fresh "little cabbages" are selling at 16 cents a pound.

Ah-h-h! new potatoes! They are skinnish and inexpensive. Up from sunny California, the little potatoes have arrived on the stands to give us an early spring in mid-winter. Steamed, and served in a river of butter (by the way, not for dieters!) the family will really go for them!

Taking a stroll around the various vegetable shops can be an enjoyable experience, especially when the fresh, clean and colorful displays are as fine as they were today!

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

We women are apt to live up to the picture we have of ourselves. If we feel attractive, we are likely to be attractive. It is entirely possible for a waist measurement to affect a personality. Some women are so vibrant and have such charm and such a love of life that they are not influenced by their personal appearance. However, most of us find ourselves self-conscious or shy, retiring or awkward, when we know that we are poorly groomed or that our figures are wrong.

Because of the way it builds up or tears down our morale or ego, the way we look is of the greatest importance to us. Today there are answers, to practically all problems in personal appearance.

My 8-Week Self-Improvement Marathon gives you the answers to the most usual defects in beauty and figure along with general directions, a weight and height chart, and a calorie chart. It also has a department called "Eight-Weeks to Popularity." You grade yourself every day in order to improve your personality as you do your figure.

If you wish to lose weight during the next eight weeks, cut your food intake by counting your calories. Build your menus around lean meat, fish, fowl, eggs, cottage cheese, skim milk, fresh fruits and vegetables. Baked potatoes and the whole grain cereals or some

On Etiquette

Newcomers Use Caution

Two months ago, we moved from a city to a small town. Many of the women have called on me and I have met others through church, PTA and clubs. If I give a tea, should I limit my guest list to only those who have made calls?

Louise Davis Answers: It is optional as to whether or not to confine your guest list to those who paid calls. If there is a warm and mutual regard with some who haven't called, I see no reason why you shouldn't invite them too. You would have to use your own judgment, for you don't want it to appear that you are pushing your way in. Since you have plenty of time to endeavor yourself to the non-callers, you can give another party later and, in the meantime, others will get to know you better. It isn't necessary to cross them off your party list if they don't call, for there may be dozens of reasons why Mrs. X, Y and Z are not able to ring your doorbell. I suggest that you give yourself three or four more months. By then, you should have a clearer picture. You don't want to get "in" too fast, for it takes time to weld friendships. Caution is often a virtue and this is a case where it should work both ways. Newcomers generally have to go a little more than half way for they are on the defensive. But that doesn't mean that they must be eager beavers by taking initiative too soon and too fast.

ALIX, Alta. (CP)—Dr. Mary Irene Paribby, one of the first women in the world to hold cabinet rank in parliamentary government, celebrated her 90th birthday Thursday.

The first woman cabinet minister in Alberta—she was appointed minister without portfolio in 1921—Dr. Paribby passed her birthday quietly on her son's farm near this community, 120 miles north of Calgary.

She served for 14 years in the United Farmers of Alberta government. She was re-elected in the Lacombe constituency in 1926 and 1930.

One of the first members of the United Farm Women of Alberta, Dr. Paribby was president from 1915 to 1919.

With the UFA movement growing, she was nominated to contest the 1921 elections. Describing her emotions at the time she only said: "I didn't know whether to laugh or cry."

She won the election and was quickly offered a cabinet post by Premier Herbert Greenfield. Always a supporter of the rights of women in public affairs, Dr. Paribby was a key figure in the fight for women to sit in the Canadian Senate. She was one of five women who petitioned the Privy Council to pass the ruling that "women are persons under the British North America Act" and therefore eligible for appointment to the Senate.

When her cabinet rank terminated in July, 1934, the University of Alberta honored her with a doctor of laws degree.

Patients With Emotional Upsets Respond to Her Kindly Therapy

By KIFTY DIXON

You don't recover quickly from a nervous breakdown. But sometimes a reassuring occupational therapist can speed up the process for a patient. That's why Miss Winifred Reay finds so much satisfaction in her work as occupational therapist in the Observation Ward at Royal Jubilee Hospital. "I often notice a change immediately," said the soft-spoken young woman from Ireland. "The patient has been pre-occupied with himself and therapy takes his mind off his problems. Sometimes a patient will brighten up after just one lesson!"

Miss Reay explained that occupational therapy helps depressed patients develop confidence in themselves by encouraging them to accomplish something. However, the therapist must be careful to key a handicraft to the patient's level. "Give him something too difficult and it will frustrate him and aggravate his condition," said Miss Reay.

PRESCRIBED TREATMENT

It seems there are several kinds of occupational therapies. The doctor will tell Miss Reay which kind his patient requires and she will act accordingly.

"For example, a depressed patient needs a stimulant. So we give him something like finger-painting in bright colors with bold, quick strokes," Miss Reay said.

If the patient is highly-strung emotionally, Miss Reay will show him a slow, repetitive therapy, such as binding bedroom slippers. This type of patient will often just sit and watch at first.

Then there is the aggressive patient, who needs to work out his tensions on something active, like beating a big loom back and forth.

"If we had equipment for ceramics," said Miss Reay, "we could let this patient beat at some clay. It's an excellent form of therapy."

Occupational therapy isn't a compulsory part of a patient's recovery program at the Observation Ward. However, the nursing staff co-operates with Miss Reay in encouraging patients to participate—and most of them do.

Winifred Reay came to Victoria from her home in County Meath, Ireland, last September because she thought she might learn some new approaches to occupational therapy in Canada. "You see, Canada was first to develop occupational therapy as a science during the First World War," she said. "But I find techniques here much the same as those I learned when I trained at Dorset House School in Oxford, England."

A trained nurse, Miss Reay turned to occupational therapy when she became interested in the rehabilitation of her patients.

Then she began helping patients with psychological disorders and in this field found her forte.

"It's the most satisfying work I've done yet!" she said.

Occupational therapist, Winifred Reay, helps put finishing touches on a basket woven by one of her patients at Royal Jubilee Hospital Observation Ward.

Corps Forms Honor Guard

Members of Victoria Girls' Drill Corps formed a smart honor guard at Centennial United Church for Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Elmer Martin as they left following their recent wedding.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Neil, Victoria, wore a full-length lace gown with tiers of tulle on the bouffant skirt and a scalloped neckline. A headdress of seed pearls held her full-length veil and she carried red roses and stephanotis in her bouquet. Her only jewelry was pearls, gift of the groom.

Maid-of-honor, Miss Sharon McRae, wore a blue nylon chifon gown with full, waltz-length skirt and draped neckline with floating back panels.

Bridesmaids Miss Diane Adams and Miss Irene French and junior bridesmaids wore gowns of pink chifon with soft, fichu necklines and full skirts. All attendants wore feather hair bandeaux and carried colonial bouquets of white and pink carnations.

Best man for the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Martin, Kimberley, B.C., was Alfred Angell, and ushers were Ron Neil, brother of the bride, and Clarence Martin, brother of the groom.

Rev. Douglas Carr conducted the service and soloist was Mrs. Norma Webster who sang "Because."

Reception was held at Loughheed banquet hall where toast to the bride was proposed by her uncle, E. Wilkinson.

For a honeymoon up-Island the bride wore a brown wool suit with muskrat jacket and brown and turquoise accessories. The couple will live in View Royal.

Outstanding Musician Here to Conduct City's Symphony Orchestra on Weekend

DR. BOYD NEEL

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

Back in 1950 a fascinating book was published. It was the biography of an orchestra and in a sense, the autobiography of a man too.

The man was Boyd Neel. The orchestra, now one of the world's most famous small ensembles, was that whose history is part and parcel of England's fabled Glyndebourne Festival Theatre, it is a veteran of the Edinburgh Festival and several brilliant continental tours.

At the moment Dr. Neel is spending a busy week in Victoria preparing the coming weekend's Victoria Symphony concerts which he will guest-conduct.

Following first rehearsals, his comment: "My word, don't they play well!"

Dr. Neel, the former doctor of medicine now Dean of the Royal Conservatory of Music in Toronto, indicates that the Victoria Orchestra's reputation is widening—"word has been getting around."

"But I had no idea," he comments, "no idea at all how extremely well they could play."

He admires the attitude and approach of the orchestra musicians. Keenness and enthusiasm are qualities you can't buy and in the face of the orchestra's tiny budget, these people are playing for sheer love of making music, Dr. Neel remarks.

As to that, the guest conductor should certainly be an expert for he himself and his orchestra began as a group of amateur musicians who played together for love of it and succeeded in arresting the attention of the whole musical world.

How could he bear to part with his orchestra and come to Canada at the invitation of the Royal Conservatory? He answers this by pointing out that (a) he is only nine hours' flight from England and can return there every summer to work with the Boyd-Neel Orchestra, and (b) he prefers a settled home life to that of an "itinerant troubadour."

"With the orchestra it was a suitcase existence. You are not like an acting troupe which might spend several weeks in one place—you can only give one concert in each town."

But there was an exception once. In Sidney, Australia, during the spectacular tour Dr. Neel describes in his book, "The Story of an Orchestra," the group played 19 consecutive concerts, each one to a packed 3,200-seat hall!

The tall man with the shrewd blue-grey eyes that have a "wide horizons" look projects a feeling of well-disciplined dynamic energy.

It is as easy to understand that he finds his Canadian position stimulating and absorbing as it is to believe that he provides his associates, in turn, with inspiration and stimulation.

He expresses his convictions without undue heat, but clearly and forcefully—as for instance when commenting on the over-use of microphones by public entertainers.

On an auditorium; inadequacy or lack of same. "No theatre is an adequate auditorium for a symphony orchestra," he declares. "The acoustical problems of an acting group and an orchestra group are totally different."

Dr. Neel will conduct the Victoria Symphony Orchestra at Duncan Friday night and in Victoria Sunday afternoon and Monday evening.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Victoria District—At the regular meeting of the Windsor Park Scout troop, David Angus received his Queen's Scout badge.

It calls for being in possession of a number of public service badges of which the ambulance man's and pathfinder's are compulsory. He must also be a first-class Scout. A Scout being awarded this badge must prove that he can live up to the requirements for six months before he can qualify for his Queen's Scout certificate.

Dave Foster received his first-class badge.

After the ceremonies Inspector Robert Sinclair of the B.C. game branch gave the boys a talk and demonstration on the safe use of firearms.

Parkville Group—The Cubs and Scouts held a bottle drive to raise funds for the purchase of camping equipment. Eric Parsley's service station was used as a headquarters and citizens were asked to leave their porch lights on to show where the bottles could be picked up.

Ganges Group—The Scout troop held a party night recently at which table tennis and air rifle shooting practices were carried out. The winners of the contest were presented with chocolate bars. Scoutmaster Hank Doerksen was assisted by J. W. A. Green and R. Dodds who was in charge.

Hamburg Firm Buys Canadian Empress Liner

HAMBURG (AP)—Purchase of the 26,313-ton Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Scotland by the recently-founded Hamburg-Atlantic Line was revealed Thursday by a spokesman of this West German city's economic department.

Both the city spokesman and an official of the new line said the ship was bought from Canadian Pacific Steamships for about £1,000,000 ($28,000,000) to be paid in sterling.

The chief financier behind the project was identified by the city spokesman as Greek millionaire Vernikos Eugenides.

University Fund Passes Objective

MONTREAL—A $4,000,000 national-wide campaign conducted during 1957 to raise funds for Queen's University at Kingston, Ont., has successfully reached its objective. N. R. Crump, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway and general chairman of the fund drive has announced.

Mr. Crump set the total of contributions from individuals, foundations and corporations in Canada and the U.S. at $4,051,500 as of Dec. 31, 1957. Some delayed subscriptions are still expected.

The fund will provide a part of the cost of a $9,200,000 expansion program to be carried out by Queen's University over a five-year period.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Dennis Driscoll, aged 13, of Chula-Vista, Calif., for his question:

What Are Elements?

Gold is an element; silver, lead and iron are elements. But steel, brass, bronze and most everyday metals are not elements. Oxygen, the gas we breathe in, is an element. Carbon dioxide, the gas we breathe out, is not an element. Liquid mercury is an element. Liquid water is not an element.

Carbon dioxide, as its name implies, is composed of carbon and oxygen—both of them elements. Water, as we all know, is composed of hydrogen and oxygen—both of them elements. Carbon dioxide and water, then, are composed of basic ingredients. And the basic ingredients are elements. Hydrogen is composed of nothing but hydrogen, carbon of nothing but carbon and oxygen of nothing but oxygen.

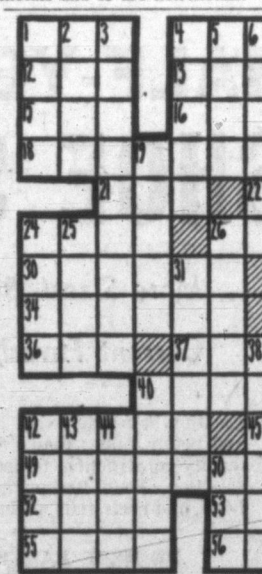

The smallest particle of water is composed of two atoms of hydrogen and one atom of oxygen. When this unit is split apart it is no longer water. Plants divide carbon dioxide

Particles Give Atom Character

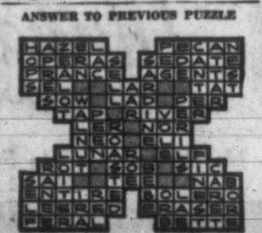

The number of each atom is the number of protons in its nucleus. Each proton is a particle charged with positive electricity. The number of protons in an atom is balanced with an equal number of electrons charged with negative electricity. The number of these particles gives an atom its character. An atom of gold with 79 protons must behave very differently from an atom of neon with its 10 protons.

A list of the elements is very short. What's more, pure elements occur in nature only rarely. Most things around us are composed of two or more elements. The list of these substances and compounds is almost endless. Soap, sugar, salt, cloth, wood and plastic are all composed of compounds of basic elements. These basic chemical elements are the building blocks of everything on earth and everything in the whole universe.

Under ordinary conditions only two of the basic elements are liquid—bromine and mercury. Mercury is the only metal which is liquid at normal temperatures. Eleven of the basic elements are gases under nor-

Labor Asks Insurance Record Transfer

Efforts to have unemployment insurance records of Victorians transferred from Vancouver to Victoria will be continued at the Canadian Labor Congress convention in April.

Donald Douglas, Victoria Labor Council unemployment chairman, said Wednesday that local UIC officials had said paying of benefits would not be expedited if the records were kept here.

"But we're not dropping the matter," he said. "A resolution has been drawn up for the annual convention in Winnipeg. We're making effort at the local, provincial and national levels to get this change."

COULD CUT TIME

James Pennock, teamsters' delegate, said he had been told by a UIC clerk that a mix-up in his records could be corrected "in a day" if the records were kept in the city.

"But with the records being kept in Vancouver, she said it could take a week, another week or another week."

Mr. Douglas urged unemployed unionists to be courteous to UIC clerks because of the "tension" of their work when there were many applicants waiting in line.

He warned laid off workers to produce their insurance books as soon as they received them or else there would be delays and possible disqualification.

Lights Out But Not Dark Interlude

LONDON (UP)—What happened when the lights went out in the Riverside home of beauty screen star Diana Dors? Nothing. She's just taking up spiritualism, that's all.

Boyfriend Tommy Yardey, her constant companion since her separation from British actor Dennis Hamilton, introduced her to the occult, friends say.

They reported she was "really thrilled." She told a London columnist, "so many details of the seances were intimate" that she couldn't talk about them. The parents of the husky Yardey, an ex-wrestler, attend seances held by Joseph Benjamin, one of Britain's best-known mediums. It was reported they persuaded Benjamin to hold two seances in Diana's home and planned a third.

Rude Pravo says the Telc children are staging plays and selling waste paper and scrap metal because "they are determined to help the Negro children, victims of discrimination in Little Rock."

'Trigger' Burke Executed; Wouldn't 'Rat' on His Pals

OSSINING, N.Y. (AP) — Elmer (Trigger) Burke, a cold, fatalistic killer-for-hire, was executed Thursday night in Sing Sing's electric chair for one of the most casual of his many crimes—a drunken barroom murder.

Burke entered the death chamber accompanied by the prison Roman Catholic chaplain and praying with him.

As he approached the electric chair, he smiled then looked around the audience. He waved to one of the witnesses—who later said he did not know the condemned man.

Burke continued praying in the electric chair until the moment of his death—three minutes later.

Aside from words spoken in prayer, Burke said nothing.

The wiry, 39-year-old gunman might have traded his life for information on various New York crimes, especially on the waterfront. But he boasted he would never rat on his friends—and apparently he kept his pledge.

IMPULSE KILLING

The crime for which Burke was condemned was the murder of a pal, Edward (Poochy) Walsh, 23, a longshoreman. In Burke's extensive lexicon of crime, the 1952 slaying was little more than a footnote.

The usually crafty Burke killed Walsh impulsively. The underworld is reported to have subsidized Burke to the tune of $300 a month because of his ready gun.

At least half a dozen other murders were blamed on Burke but never pinned on him.

In 1954, he was arrested in Boston after he machine-gunned but failed to kill Joseph (Spec) O'Keefe, a key figure in the $1,000,000 Brink's hold-up in 1950.

Burke, police said, had been hired to kill O'Keefe in an underworld wrangle over disposition of the Brink's loot.

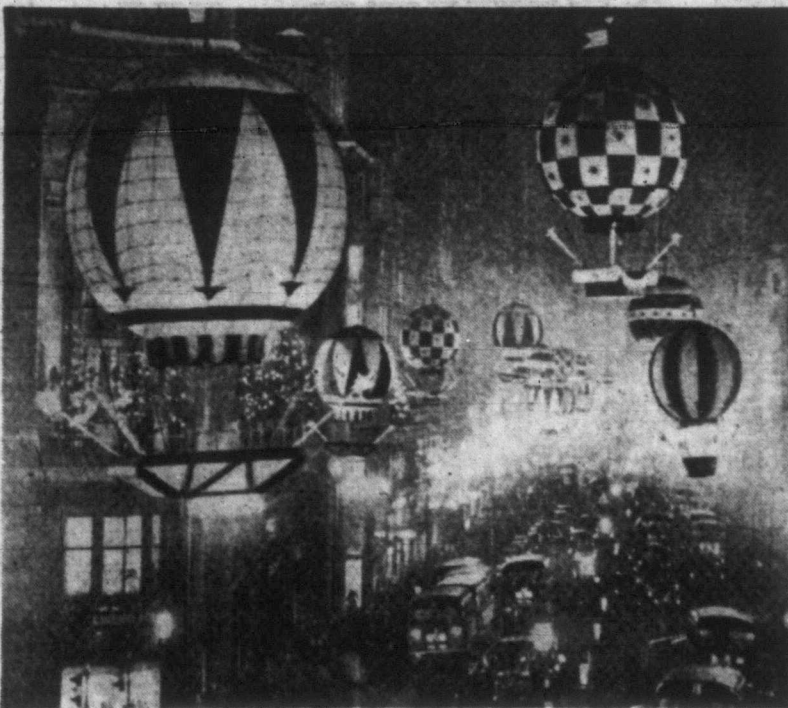

On Aug. 28, 1954, Burke broke jail in Boston. He was a fugitive for a year until his eventual arrest by the FBI at Folly Beach, S.C.

Hees-CPR Talk Set On Coastal Service

OTTAWA (CP) — Transport Minister Hees said Thursday he will discuss with CPR officials the problem of providing Canadian Pacific Steamships service to small centres on the British Columbia coast.

British Ballerina Thinks Russ Best

By GEOFFREY MILLER
LONDON (AP)—British ballerina Beryl Grey, first westerner to star with Moscow's world-famous Bolshoi Ballet, says the West still has much to learn in the ballet line from the Russians.

The 30-year-old dancer has just returned from a triumphant four-week tour in Russia, dancing leading roles with the Bolshoi in Moscow and in Leningrad; Tbilisi in Georgia, and Kiev, capital of the Ukraine.

Although ballet in Britain and the United States has advanced "by leaps and bounds," Miss Grey said, "I think the Russians express themselves more freely than we do."

Miss Grey said the Russian tour was the greatest artistic experience of her life. "The standard at the Bolshoi Theatre is wonderfully high," she explained. "They are inspiring people to dance with. It is this sense of dedication that Russian dancers have—they take their art so seriously."

Passenger Blew Himself Out of Plane

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board said Thursday Saul F. Binstock, heavily insured passenger, dynamited himself out of an airliner over the Mojave Desert in California last summer.

Binstock hurtled 7,500 feet to his death in the desert July 25 after a blast ripped a 40-foot hole in the Western Air Lines Convair he had boarded at Las Vegas, Nev.

The CAB said evidence gathered in the plane and parts recovered from the ground indicated a blasting cap of dynamite exploded in the plane's rest room from which Binstock was blown by outrushing air.

The plane with 12 passengers and a crew of three made an emergency landing a few minutes after the blast.

It was reported Binstock had taken out two $62,500 flight insurance policies, both naming Binstock's wife beneficiary.

A. Maxwell Klum, board chairman of Mercury International Insurance Companies, said payment would be resisted on both policies if Binstock was found to have committed suicide.

California Pair To Visit Island, Seek Driftwood

A California couple is planning to visit Vancouver Island in quest of driftwood, shells, small rocks and gem stones.

"Please let us know where we may find these things," writes Mrs. David P. Brown of Oakland, California, to Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

"We are just beginning to become interested in these natural wonders and would like to have some as souvenirs of our trip to Vancouver Island—if this is allowed by Canadian law."

Mrs. Brown says she and her husband are particularly interested in "rugged mountain, ocean and forest scenery," but adds:

"We are in our 50s and cannot go into remote areas on horseback."

She seeks specific information concerning Island resorts in "beautiful rugged scenery, not too far from Victoria, with good food representative of the best in English and French cooking."

Also the names of Victoria's best restaurants and shops selling bone china and woolsens.

Mrs. Brown concludes her long and detailed letter by asking for a map of the Island and separate booklets on Point No Point, Sprout Lake and Sooke Harbor House.

"We have sent her all the material we have," a spokesman for the publicity bureau said.

QUIZ MANIA—Some of you may have noticed the show "Dotto" nestling quietly in the 3.30 slot on channel 11 since last week.

It represents the latest in a series of network efforts to boost the sagging ratings of quiz shows which have gone rapidly down hill since their phenomenal success in the last two seasons.

The $64,000 Question was, of course, the first and biggest quiz in their arsenal and it inspired a host of imitators most of which have folded with the notable exceptions of the $64,000 Challenge and "Twenty-One."

With the passing of the big money shows that featured a straight, onstage program it seemed that the day of the quiz was over.

Then in mid-season last year "The Price is Right," a little known daytime feature, hopped out of the cellar and began climbing toward the big ratings, propelled by millions of cards from enraptured viewers.

The format was of course, the hidden audience participation bit which allowed the home viewers as well as the onstage contestants to get a shot at the loot.

At the beginning of the current season it was moved to a Monday night slot in addition to its five-day-a-week position as was "Treasure Hunt."

Now we have "Dotto" which offers a trip around the world to some lucky stay-at-home who card gets picked out of the sackfuls of mail on stage.

THE HOME OF HOME BUILDERS

Keep up to Date in '58 JOIN THE PARADE of satisfied, happy home owners in 1958. You see, tight money is being loaned in some directions and it appears that home mortgages will be available for eligible applicants. There is no time to waste to invest in a home of your own, because contrary to many things a home seems to increase in value as the years pass. You will be wise to look over the choice of good building lots and then visit our store for building ideas. Here you'll find a large selection of home plans and details with blueprints available. You'll find helpful, friendly advice on many building subjects. Why not get started now while lumber and building materials are low. Check these values in better lumber buys.

F.G.S.B.C.A.S.T.B. SEE BELOW FOR ANSWER

LONDON (AP)—Lord Mancroft, minister without portfolio, always knows when to f.g.s.b.c.a.s.t.b., w.p.s. or t.d.b.

Reporters noticed the cryptic initials scribbled on the margins of a written speech he made about an army recruiting drive.

F.g.s.b.c.a.s.t.b., the peer explained, means "for God's sake be careful and stick to the brief."

W.p.s. means "weak point, shout."
And t.d.b. stands for "thump the dispatch box" a container for official documents which stands in front of the ministerial benches in Parliament.

B.C. FOREST CHARGED

New Bribery Counts Laid To Sommers

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Sommers bribery case was adjourned today for a week and the Police Court Magistrate said: "It's obvious the case will not get on for some time."

The charges of conspiracy and of bribery against Robert Sommers, former British Columbia lands and forest minister, and four forest industry companies and four of their executives, was adjourned after defence and Crown attorneys indicated they may not be ready to proceed until February.

Next week's hearing is expected to set a date for proceeding in the case.

In addition to conspiracy charges filed earlier against Sommers and the other defendants, Prosecutor Stewart McMorran filed charges today of bribery and accepting bribes. He said that if proven against them, it could increase their maximum sentence to 14 years from the five-year sentence possible on the conspiracy charges. A further defendant was brought into the case Thursday when B.C. Forest Products Limited was served with a summons listing six charges of bribery and conspiracy. The company's late president, Hector Munro, who died in December of a heart attack was listed in two of the counts.

The charges specify that the companies and their executives conspired with Sommers and bribed him while he was forests minister in consideration for forest management licences.

No Individual Defendants Appear

None of the individual defendants appeared in court today for the brief hearing.

Charged with Sommers and B.C. Forest Products are C. D. Schultz, H. Wilson Gray, John M. Gray, C. D. Schultz Limited, Pacific Coast Services Limited and Evergreen Lumber Sales Limited.

Today's hearing was taken up with lawyers' arguments that the forthcoming assizes of the B.C. Supreme Court would keep them engaged well into February.

Representing the most recent defendants in the case, lawyers Walter Owen and Douglas Brown said B.C. Forest Products is anxious to proceed and clear this slur on its reputation.

However, Alfred Bull, who represents Charles D. Schultz and the C. D. Schultz Limited, said he has been waiting for six weeks for the case to proceed.

Glancing at Prosecutor McMorran, Mr. Bull added: "They are trying to build up their case."

Macmillan Mum On New Russ Note

NEW DELHI (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan lunched today with India's President Rajendra Prasad and Prime Minister Nehru.

A spokesman for Macmillan said the prime minister would not comment on Soviet Premier Bulganin's proposal for a summit conference until he sees the text of the proposal and confers with his cabinet.

Thursday Nehru told Macmillan he welcomes the British leader's suggestion for an East-West non-aggression pact. Nehru said Macmillan's support for the pact received a warm reception "certainly in India, certainly I think in every country of Asia, and I think elsewhere too in Europe and America."

Second Note By Bulganin To John D.

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker today received a new communication from Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin on the convening of an East-West summit meeting.

The note was delivered by Russian Ambassador Dmitri Chuvahin. The ambassador spent 15 minutes with the prime minister.

Mr. Diefenbaker told Mr. Chuvahin the note was "very interesting" but he made no other comment on it. He did not indicate when a reply would be sent.

EVEN, A DAISY CAN STAND ONLY SO MUCH

'Dahlias --- Dahlias --- Dahlias'

BIRMINGHAM, Eng. (AP)—William S. Goode promised publicly today to quit dallying with dahlias if his runaway wife will return to his bed and board.

Goode, a 51-year-old dahlia fancier who has won many prizes at flower shows, told the newspapers that Mrs. Goode vanished Dec. 30, leaving a note which said: "Dahlias, dahlias, dahlias—I am fed up with them. Breakfast, supper and bedtime that is all I have had to hear."

"If she will come back I will give them up," said Goode today. "I realize now that my wife is more important than dahlias."

Mrs. Goode is 52 "but looks more like 40," he said. Her name is Daisy.

Single Province Participation

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government's plan of sharing costs of a hospital insurance program will become effective with individual provinces next July 1, under a proposed legislative change announced in the Commons today by Health Minister Monteith.

Mr. Monteith said the government intends to introduce legislation to this effect at the next session of Parliament.

At present the federal offer, originally proposed by the former Liberal administration, calls for the entry of at least six provinces with at least half of Canada's population before the scheme would become effective.

The minister told the House the government will propose that this clause in the original bill be repealed.

In place of it, a new section would permit federal participation with any province that has made an agreement with the central government and has a hospital insurance law in force at July 1, 1958.

3 OR 4 READY

Mr. Monteith said he is confident that at least three or four provinces will try to have plans ready to go into operation by July 1. He did not identify them.

He felt that most, if not all, of the others also would soon have plans operating.

He said the change in the scheme will advance the starting date. Previously it had been expected the plan would not start in any province before Jan. 1, 1959, when Ontario plans to put its scheme into action.

Mr. Monteith said federal aid under the change would be available to any province that has signed an agreement with the federal government and has the necessary enabling legislation in force. Thus one province would not be dependent on the action of five other provinces.

Former Liberal health minister Paul Martin welcomed the announcement. But he asked whether the government has not yet made up its mind to keep its election promise to include tuberculosis and mental patients under the scheme's coverage.

Mr. Monteith said the government is not prepared to make any further announcement at this time.

TB PATIENTS

Stanley Knowles, deputy CCF leader, said his party also wants to see TB and mental patients covered, but it welcomed the announcement.

Four provinces now have hospital care plans in effect. They are British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Newfoundland and presumably these would benefit from an early start in federal participation.

Mr. Monteith told J. W. Pickersgill (L-Bonaville-Twillin-gate) it is true he had intended to continue on Page 2

Expand BCHIS Or Cut Sales Tax

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan said today the provincial government should now launch a complete health insurance plan.

Participation of the federal government in hospital insurance, "now puts the province in a position to expand the hospital insurance scheme into an overall health plan which will remove the burden of doctors' bills from the day-to-day budgeting of the average citizen."

"We should start to implement the health insurance bill that was passed by the legislature in 1935 but never proclaimed," Mr. Strachan said.

CUT SALES TAX

"If the premier is afraid to take this progressive step it means that at the next session there must be an immediate reduction in the 5 per cent sales tax to at least 4 per cent."

Mr. Strachan said the CCF welcomed the federal action as the first step toward a complete social security program in Canada.

The Ottawa announcement was welcomed by government leaders, but there was no indication of how the federal contribution would be used.

BEFORE JULY 1

Premier Bennett said B.C. is ready to enter an agreement before July 1.

"We're anxious to establish the program immediately," he said.

The total budget of the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service in the current year is $36,000,000.

Federal contributions to the scheme will amount to about 45 per cent of the total each year.

NO CUTS

Premier Bennett had said previously the government did not intend to cut the sales tax when the federal plan went into effect.

Additional money would be used to provide additional services, he said.

Commons to Adjourn For Liberal Parley

OTTAWA (CP) Prime Minister Diefenbaker today gave notice that the Commons will be adjourned next Wednesday night and Thursday.

His notice of motion published today gave no reasons for the adjournment, but it is in connection with the Liberal party leadership convention here next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

The convention program Wednesday night calls for speeches

by nominated leadership candidates, with windup proceedings and election of a new leader, to succeed opposition leader St. Laurent, Thursday.

Four candidates have announced their intention to contest the leadership. They are: Hon. Lester B. Pearson, former minister of foreign affairs; Hon. Paul D. Martin, former minister of health; Mayor Don Mackay of Calgary and Mayor H. Lloyd Henderson of Portage la Prairie.

Five-In-One

U.S. Successfully Launches 2 Huge Ballistic Missiles

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Another big ballistic missile was launched here today almost four hours after the successful firing of an Atlas intercontinental weapon.

The second weapon could have been one of two intermediate range air force missiles—the Navaho or the Thor. The Navaho has been discontinued but the Thor is reported ready to go into mass production. The missile appeared to have been fired successfully.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The U.S. Air Force successfully launched its fourth Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile today.

The giant missile rose from its launching pad, in a puff of white smoke and a tremendous flash of flame.

Within 15 minutes the defence department announced that the launching was a success—a fact highly evident to the handful of reporters who watched from beaches some miles away from the fenced-off test centre.

The department said further that "the test, which was not full range, was successful." This meant that the Atlas, designed to fly more than 5,000 miles, was assigned a shorter range for this test flight and operated accurately over that distance.

The Atlas is the American answer to Soviet intercontinental ballistic capability.

SECOND SUCCESS

This was the second apparently successful firing of "the beast," as the Atlas is known to its builders.

On the first two tries, the big missile started to get out of control shortly after launching and had to be destroyed.

The third launching last Dec. 17 was successful over a 600-mile range. The air force said the missile landed in a pre-selected target area.

FUCHS MENDS MACHINES 230 MILES FROM POLE

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (Reuters)—Dr. Vivian Fuchs on Thursday halted his tractor train 230 miles from the South Pole for vehicle maintenance.

He radioed, however, that he still expects to meet his new target date of Jan. 17.

In London, Sir Miles Clifford, a member of the Commonwealth expedition committee, said the South Pole has no significance for Fuchs. It is merely a point on his line of march, he said.

NATO Council Agrees On East-West Talks

PARIS (Reuters)—NATO's permanent council today agreed in principle on East-West talks provided thorough preparations are made first.

Officials said after a two-hour council meeting that no specific time for such talks or the level at which they should be held was set by the 15 NATO members.

The first replies to Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin's December letters will be sent to Moscow next week, the officials said. The replies, including those of Canada, the United States, Britain and France, will answer all Bulganin's points and make certain counter-proposals.

Job Seekers Almost Double

OTTAWA (CP)—Persons applying for jobs with National Employment Service almost doubled between mid-November and late December. Labor Minister Starr told the Commons today.

Registrations totalled 698,153 at Dec. 26, against 352,144 in mid-November. A year earlier, they were 387,327.

The December figure is the highest since the National Employment Service was set up in 1940.

Blizzards Hit Japan

TOKYO (Reuters)—Blizzards raging in northern Japan today sank a freighter, wrecked a radio relay station and stopped trains and ferry boats.

Feared Drowned

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP)—A massive air and sea search for three men aboard a missing fishboat was called off late Thursday. The three were presumed to have been drowned.

They were Ed Cottrell, and native fishermen Ted White and William Cooper, all of the Port Simpson area north of this coastal city.

LIBERAL SHOWDOWN PREDICTED FOR JAN. 21

Election Seen March 24 or 31

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent
OTTAWA—A final showdown between the Liberals and

Conservatives is rapidly approaching.

The Diefenbaker government will probably meet its defeat in the Commons on a vote of want of confidence in its trade policies on Tuesday, Jan. 21, leading to a general election on March 24 or 31.

The Liberals will have selected their new leader by next Thursday night.

Rt. Hon. L. S. St. Laurent, however, will continue to occupy the leader's chair in parliament on Friday and Saturday in the Commons. The new Liberal leader will move into the desk of the leader of the Opposition on Monday.

The Progressive Conservatives are planning to challenge the new Liberal leader to "put up or shut up" almost immediately. They will hold back the final supply motion scheduled to go before the House, traditional vehicle for want of confidence motions.

The government will schedule the supply motion for either Monday, Jan. 20 or Jan. 27 with the chances being it will come down on Jan. 20, immediately following the Liberal convention. The CCF will insist that the usual two-day debate be allowed on the supply motion. The Liberals are expected to introduce a motion that will be a want of confidence motion in the government. It will probably condemn the government's trade policies and in the debate the Liberals will claim that the "bungling" trade policies of the government have contributed to the mounting unemployment.

CCF SUPPORT CERTAIN

The CCF would support such a Liberal want of confidence motion providing it did not include any section that was a eulogy of private enterprise or some other section that would make it impossible for the Socialists to swallow. The Liberals determined to challenge the government would presumably

Demos Want Exact Blueprint Of Ike's Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats called on President Eisenhower today to back up with specific blueprints for action the eight-point program he placed before Congress and the American people Thursday.

Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Senate Democratic leader, set the show-me tone of reaction to the proposals Eisenhower outlined in his "state of the union" message. Eisenhower said they are needed to meet the growing space-era threat of what he repeatedly called "Communist imperialism."

"The president has in general terms set forth some worthy objectives," Johnson said in an interview. "He has called for strengthening of our allies, greater understanding and commerce between nations and attempts to bring peace to the world."

NEED SPECIFIC PLANS

"Now we are waiting for his blueprints for meeting those objectives. As soon as he lays them down, our committee will promptly consider his recommendations."

The Democrats control the committees because of their majority in Congress.

Although Johnson and House Speaker Sam Rayburn (Dem.-Tex.) both praised the Republican president's speech, there was mounting evidence of Democratic disappointment that Eisenhower did not make any spectacular proposals for an immediate buildup in American military might.

An analysis of the president's proposals circulated among Democratic senators said that basically the message was "long on proposals and short on performance."

"Even the program to step up national security boils down to pumping a little more money into existing projects, and promising vaguely to reorganize the defense structure," the analysis said.

SERVICE BICKERING

Rayburn said he was "glad to know the president is alive to what the American people are disturbed about—and this is the bickering and dissension among the armed services."

"I hope he gives Defence Secretary McElroy the authority to get the job done, regardless of who stays or who has to go."

A high administration official said Eisenhower has in mind a move to bolster the secretary of defence with additional authority over military spending.

This official said the president will personally direct the defence department reorganization plans and might recommend creation of a staff of military advisers, separate from the joint chiefs of staff, to help McElroy resolve disputes among the services.

Leading off his eight points with his reference to defence reorganization, Eisenhower called for a speedup in production of missiles, nuclear submarines and other modern weapons.

There was evident opposition, however, to his call for continuation of foreign aid at a high level and continuation of the reciprocal trade agreements act for five years.

EDUCATION PROGRAM

Many Democrats have indicated that they want to go further than Eisenhower's proposal for a billion-dollar four-year program to promote education and research.

The president will send to Congress Monday his new budget calling for $73,800,000,000 or more in spending and an increase in the federal debt ceiling, government informants say.

Eisenhower's call Thursday for efforts to bring about disarmament and peace was generally applauded, although except for a co-operative "science for peace" effort he proposed little that was new.

In London, editorial comment on the speech was lukewarm.

Tass news agency reported in Moscow that Eisenhower spoke of preserving strength and working for true peace, but said most of the speech was "taken up by military problems."

PUBLIC LIKES IKE'S ADDRESS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House reported today that messages from the public on President Eisenhower's "state of the union" address are running 90 per cent in support of his proposals.

Asked about the opposition communications, press secretary James C. Hagerty said most of those took issue with proposals for continuation and expansion of foreign aid.

ably word the motion so that it would be acceptable to the CCF. A straight motion condemning the government's trade policies would be almost certain to win the support of the CCF group.

The 106 Liberals in the House plus the 25 CCF would add up to a total of 131, providing all members were on hand. The Liberals would make their decision to bring down such a want of confidence motion at a party caucus to be held immediately after the convention.

There is a group of Liberals who are advocating that the party hold back and wait two or three months before bringing down the government. But Hon. L. B. Pearson is believed to strongly favor challenging the administration immediately after the convention. If he is elected leader his viewpoint is expected to prevail in the party caucus.

The Social Credit group in the House would likely vote against the Liberal want of confidence motion and with the government. However, even if the Social Credit group went along with the government in the test of strength it is believed the combined forces of the CCF and Liberals would be sufficient to defeat the government.

Even if the Conservatives won by a narrow margin of three or four votes it is doubtful that Prime Minister John Diefenbaker would carry on. He would likely consider it as no vote of confidence in his administration and seek dissolution.

Consequently most members of parliament are preparing themselves for a winter election campaign.

Spiralling Costs Hit Lumber Firms

No Equal Rise in Productivity Says Macmillan, Bloedel President

VANCOUVER (CP)—The lumber industry, in common with the province and the whole of Canada, faces the problem of "spiralling costs without an equalizing rise in productivity," the president of MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd. said Thursday.

"I would venture to say this situation is also turning into one of the most important political problems of the day," Ralph M. Shaw told the company's annual shareholders' meeting here.

"Continually rising costs without a corresponding increase in rate of production results eventually in profitless operations—which in turn lead to unemployment and this finally stops the rise in costs if it is not too late."

While costs to the lumber and other industries of wages and supplies have increased steadily, he said, "The prices we receive for our lumber have, on the average, gone down about 12 per cent compared with 10 years ago."

Commenting on a strike of 6,000 pulp and paper workers which has tied up the industry for the last nine weeks, Mr. Shaw termed it "incredible" that the two unions involved should have rejected increases in pay and other benefits offered by the seven strikebound companies.

The companies' latest offer, which Mr. Shaw said would have increased wages 20 cents to a peak of $2.53 an hour, was rejected. He added:

"Considering the market outlook for our industry, I feel that the last offer . . . is difficult to justify from the standpoint of the shareholder, but it was evidence of the companies' goodwill to achieve a settlement in this dispute."

"Hundreds of millions of dollars worth of machinery and equipment lie idle. Family life suffers. And the longer the strike goes on, the more hardship will soak and spread through the economic fabric of the province."

"In a very real sense the forest industry of British Columbia is facing the lesser evil of damage now rather than disaster tomorrow."

"Resistance to unwise and unreasonable demands which could produce great unemployment in the future, is evidence of a determination not to commit economic suicide—in other words an instinct for survival. We must hope that some of this instinct to survive and hold our place in world markets amidst growing competition exists also amongst those who lead and advise employees."

"Surely common sense will warn us of great danger in the fallacy that the way for an export industry to meet the problems of falling market demand is to raise wages greatly and thereby increase its cost of production."

Acts of Brig Brutality Denied By Burly U.S. Marine Sergeant

YOKOSUKA, Japan (AP)—Sgt. Robert J. Barbuti of the United States Marines today denied before a military court that he stamped on a navy prisoner's bare feet, rammed a pencil up a man's nose until it bled, or banged two sailors' heads together to the rhythm of a Mario Lanza record.

The burly former assistant warden at the Sasebo naval base brig in south Japan said he only used his foot to shove the feet of several prisoners into the proper position for attention, tapped a man's forehead with a pencil while bawling him out and struck the sailors' shoulders together—not their heads—"to shake them up."

"In time to the record?" asked his civilian defence counsel, Frank H. Scollins.

"No, sir, it never happened," Barbuti replied.

The 205-pound, 23-year-old sergeant denied all 28 counts of cruelty to prisoners charged to him except one slugging. He said that man told him: "Sir, I believe you are the fattest man in the brig."

The charges carry a total maximum penalty of more than 30 years in prison.

Barbuti is the 15th of 16 marine guards at the Sasebo brig to be tried on charges of mistreating prisoners. Eight have been convicted and six acquitted of lesser charges, but the U.S. Navy Pacific command reversed four of the convictions.

Barbuti also denied earlier testimony that he squirted shaving cream into a man's mouth and ears, kicked a man on the head as he followed orders by crawling on the floor like a dog, or drew a bayonet across a prisoner's bare chest.

'WE ARE ALL BAD SEED'

Deranged Mother Kills 3 Tots

RENO, Nev. (AP)—"We are all bad seed" read a note left by a wealthy insurance executive's estranged wife.

Her bullet-torn body and those of the couple's three children were found side by side Thursday on a bedroom floor of their $50,000 home.

Victims of what police described as child killing and suicide were Mrs. D. Yvonne Cavanaugh, 34, recently released from a mental hospital, and her children, Anthony, 9, Carol, 8, and Kevin, 4.

Robert Cavanaugh, who had been separated from his wife more than six months, was in Chicago when the shootings occurred.

Police told of blood-spattered and bullet-pocked upstairs walls, indicating that Mrs. Cavanaugh may have chased and shot the children in various rooms before bringing them downstairs to place the bodies in a row on a blanket in her lavish bedroom.

The children's bodies were riddled by bullets from a .25-calibre automatic found beside their mother.

Police said more than 20 shots had been fired.

A maid, Dora Lee Halley, found the bodies when she came to work Thursday. A note tacked to the door said: "We are all bad seed. There never were four more unhappy and unhealthy people, and it's getting worse every day."

No Hypocrisy In Golf Game

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)—Golf's realistic attitude toward amateurism compared with the hypocrisy of some other sports has permitted former Augusta titleholder Pat O'Sullivan to regain her amateur standing just as did such stars as Babe Didrikson Zaharias.

Most sports—such as tennis—consider it an everlasting taint for a performer to turn professional. Even playing against a pro is grounds enough for a competitor to lose Simon pure ranking for good.

But the O'Sullivan case proves again that golf, which permits amateurs to compete against pros in open tournaments, has the fairest code in sports.

The general rule in golf is that a pro can regain amateur standing after a two-year probationary period if he or she hasn't been a professional for more than five years. Sometime the period in sackcloth and ashes is shorter, as in the one-year probation of Harvie Ward who became a pro of sorts by accepting too much expense money.

"Of course, a long-time pro such as Sam Snead, Jimmy Demaret or Gene Sarazen could never regain amateur standing," says Joe Dey, executive secretary of the U.S. Golf Association. "They would never lose the advantage the years had given them."

He points out, also, that golf doesn't brand a man an all-around professional because he takes money in one sport. As a case in point, Babe Ruth was registered as an amateur golfer.

Mrs. Zaharias was an amateur and a pro twice. The Babe turned pro after making a reputation as an amateur track and swimming star. Eventually she served her penance and returned to golf as an amateur, winning the British and American crowns. Then to capitalize on her golfing ability, she turned pro again and won everything in sight before her untimely death.

It is doubtful whether Miss O'Sullivan will turn pro again. Before deciding to play for cash, she won the Augusta meet in 1951 by outscoring Mrs. Zaharias, Patty Berg and Louise Suggs. She took the Eastern amateur twice, the North-South amateur three times and six times was Connecticut amateur champion.

But two years on the pro circuit cured her. Competing in 20 tournaments, her best finish was a third in the White Mountain Open.

"Expenses on the pro circuit are terrific," she explained. "And it's quite different looking at the game from the inside. For men it's possibly different. But it's more difficult for a woman to maintain that fierce competitive urge you need to be a winner."

"And now," she says with a sigh, "golf will be fun again."

Newcombe Boys Waive Hearing

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Pitcher Don Newcombe of Los Angeles Dodgers, and his brothers, Norman and Harold, waived preliminary hearing Thursday on an assault charge. The case was sent to the grand jury.

James Palmieri, attorney for the complainant, Ulysses Ross, 36, of East Orange, said he thought the Newcombes should be put in jail because they will soon be in California for the start of the baseball season. But chief magistrate Nicholas Castellano, continued them in custody of their lawyer.

The brothers were accused by Ross of manhandling him last Dec. 21 when he was told to leave the Newcombe tavern.

LOS ANGELES—Davy Moore, 128, Springfield, Ohio, stopped Victor Manuel Olajana, 126, Mexico City, 8.

Bob's Best Pal Is Hot Putter

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Bob Rosburg, a perfect example of "drive for show, putt for dough," headed into the second round of the $50,000 Bing Crosby Tournament today with a two-stroke lead, and a tough course facing him.

Rosburg, sinking putts up to 30 feet, Thursday fashioned a seven-under-par 65 over the Monterey Peninsula Country Club layout as 280 amateurs and pros tackled two courses.

The 31-year-old pro from Napa, Calif., goes over the second one, Cypress Point, for his second round today.

Bo Winger of Odessa, Tex., posted a 67 at Cypress, the same score as Tommy Bolt of Chattanooga, Tenn., had at Monterey.

Six golfers deadlocked at 68. All fired at Monterey and, along with Rosburg, must tackle Cypress, a treacherous 6,317-yard course along the sea cliffs. In the bunch are Shelley Mayfield, Ken Venturi, Fred Hawkins, Jack Fleck, George Bayer and Johnny Pott.

BALDING SHOOT 71

The best of three Canadian entrants was Toronto's Al Balding, tied with 11 others six strokes behind Rosburg, with 71, made up of rounds of 34 and 37. Stan Leonard of Lachute, Que., and Vancouver and Bob Wylie of Calgary had 78s.

Rosburg started by three-putting the first green and then settled down for the day's greatest putting exhibition. In addition to his 30-footer, he dropped one from 20 and two from 15 feet.

He collected six birdies and an eagle in edging to the front in the battle for Crosby's $4,000 top prize.

In the pro-amateur division, in which teams play a best-ball, the lead was shared by the two-some of Rosburg and San Francisco sports writer Nelson Culenward and Bolt with actor Johnny Weissmuller of Hollywood. Each team had a 61.

U.S. open champion Dick Mayer carded a 75 at Cypress and Frank Stranahan, winner of the rich Los Angeles open last week, had a 76.

In good position to challenge on changing courses were defending champion Jay Herbert and the veteran E. J. (Dutch) Harrison. Each had 69 over Cypress.

Most celebrities from the entertainment field, playing on pro-amateur teams, wound up well back.

In that category came comedian Bob Hope with partner Mike Souchak at 71. Hope, with his handicap of 11 strokes, helped as big Mike carded an 80.

On the 18th, Hope brought

Start in Two Weeks On Houses for Blind

The first low-rental housing project for the blind in Canada will be started in two weeks on Humboldt Street, between Vancouver and Rupert, Capt. M. C. Robinson, national director for western Canada of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, announced here today.

The project is to be known as the C.N.I.B. Villas Development, should be completed by next July.

"British Columbia's blind folk can look forward to a brighter housing future from now on," tall, war-blinded Capt. Robinson said.

Designed by city architect Charles E. Craig, the project will consist of five ranch-style stucco and cedar-paneled units built on a gentle terraced slope overlooking Beacon Hill Park and the Strait of Juan de Fuca.

The site will be fully landscaped, with lawns, paved walks and ramp-ways surrounding the dwellings.

Under low-pitched roofs, the five duplex and semi-detached buildings will contain 14 apartments for married couples and single blind persons.

Each apartment will have cork-tile flooring and maximum insulation, and will be heated individually with thermostatically controlled electric units.

BIG WINDOWS

"Wide picture windows will mean brighter rooms where elderly blind pensioners and others of modest income can live happily and independently," Capt. Robinson said.

"Rents for the units will be set well within the means of blind pensioners and will include stove, refrigerator, heat, water and light.

"To keep rents as low as possible, we hope to amortize the project over a period of 40 to 50 years."

The C.N.I.B. Villas Project is being financed jointly by the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, the B.C. government, and Central Mortgage and Housing.

MORE PROJECTS

"Although this is the first C.N.I.B. low-rental housing development, it is by no means the last," Capt. Robinson continued.

"I hope to develop other similar projects in B.C., and keen interest is being shown in other parts of Canada."

He said the apartments are intended exclusively for single blind persons, blind persons with sighted husbands or wives, and blind couples.

"The reason we have gone into the low-rental housing field ourselves is because there are such great numbers of low-income blind Canadians . . .

"We don't like segregation of the blind, but it costs money to be blind, and if there are not enough low-rental housing facilities for all elderly sighted Canadians, we must try and provide for them ourselves."

101-Year-Old Ex-Calgarian Dies in City

Lawrence Tremaine Lea, 101, died Thursday night in hospital after 22 years of residence in Victoria.

Born Aug. 7, 1856, in Prince Edward Island, he was a general contractor in Calgary before his retirement to Victoria in 1935.

He had smoked most of his life, and on his 101st birthday said "my health couldn't be better," meanwhile puffing vigorously at a cigar.

Surviving are his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Tremaine Lea, 1413 Andrews, with whom he made his home, and three grandchildren.

A funeral will be held Monday at 1 p.m. at McCall Bros., with Rev. A. I. Avery conducting the service.

Up in the air about a fire that partially destroyed their tree clubhouse on a Denman Street vacant lot Thursday are president Lawrence Teele, 14, of 2201 Spring (in the clubhouse), and

NEW STORM TO FOLLOW MORE RAIN

Mild, rainy weather will continue Saturday, weatherman William Mackie said today.

There will be a few light showers tonight, he said, and cloudy skies Saturday morning will give way to rain at noon with the approach of a new weather disturbance.

Temperatures will range between a minimum of 42 degrees tonight and a maximum of 48 degrees Saturday. Winds will be light overnight, and will increase to easterly at 25 miles per hour by noon Saturday.

Glasgow Skipper Here Saturday For U.K. Ship

Capt. John Gibson will arrive in Victoria Saturday from Glasgow to take command of the British freighter Ss. Baron Inverclyde, now at Esquimalt for boiler repairs.

He is to replace the present master, Capt. Robert Reid, who is suffering from an internal ailment, and has been declared medically unfit for a long sea voyage.

Capt. Reid will be returned to his home in Scotland when Capt. Gibson arrives.

Arrangements for the transfer of command were completed today by Capt. D. McDougall, marine superintendent for the owners, Hogarth and Sons, Glasgow.

Capt. McDougall arrived here by air from Scotland Thursday.

Repairs to the ship are in the hands of Yarrows Ltd., and work is expected to be finished Monday or Tuesday. King Bros. Ltd. is Victoria agent.

Rites Saturday For Sister Of Priory Here

Funeral for Sister Mary Louise Warren, OSB, 83, who died Wednesday, will be held in the chapel of St. Mary's Priory at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Born in Whitby, Ont., she was a graduate of Toronto's Trinity College and the University of Toronto in arts, and joined the Sisters of the Love of Jesus, who operate the priory here, in 1926.

From 1929 to 1939 she was principal of St. Anthony's College in Vancouver, and after the order moved here in 1941, subsequently held the posts of assistant superior and novice mistress.

She is survived by one sister, in Whitby.

Interment will be in Hatley Park Memorial Gardens. Chaplin's are in charge of arrangements.

Arbitration Seen On Teachers' Pay

Greater Victoria teacher-school board salary negotiations are expected to reach a climax at a special meeting of the bargaining committees Monday night.

While neither side would issue a statement, it is understood an impasse has been reached and arbitration proceedings probably will be started.

Greater Victoria Teachers' Association Monday in a general membership meeting turned down a board counter offer equal to about 6 per cent increase over 1957 salaries. But request was made for a further meeting.

Under the provincial legislation governing school finances, contract arrangements between teachers and school boards must be completed by Feb. 14.

The meeting between teachers and board members is set for 5 p.m. At 8 the same night the board also is scheduled to meet members of city council for school financing and teacher salary talks.

Doctors, Dentists To Canvass For UBC Funds

Victoria's doctors and dentists this month will be approached by special committees within the professions seeking support for the current University of British Columbia Development Fund drive.

Dr. Gordon Grant will head a 12-man medical doctor's committee while Drs. W. W. McLuhan and Alan Daysmith will act as co-chairmen of a dentists' committee.

Overall objective of the fund to be used to increase much needed facilities at UBC, is $7,500,000.

Fund headquarters are at 850 Gordon on the second floor, phone 5-8931.

Scouts to Form Guard of Honor For Shock Victim

A Boy Scout guard of honor will attend the funeral Saturday for Sigvard Gustafson, 51, who was electrocuted Monday in an Oak Bay industrial accident.

Mr. Gustafson served as assistant scoutmaster to Third Victoria troop. Swedish and Norwegian Social Clubs and the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners also will be represented at the service.

Funeral will be held at McCall Bros. funeral chapel at 3 p.m. Saturday. Inquest is scheduled Saturday morning.

PUBLISHER'S NOTEBOOK

San Diego is a city of surprises. To an innocent Canadian, who pictured it mainly as a sprawling naval base, it was pleasant to find it a place of beautiful boulevards and buildings; of the world's second-best zoo; of a fine natural history museum boasting a stuffed rattlesnake whose tail can be animated by an electric button.

It is also the home of two good newspapers, an impressive aircraft factory (Convair) and Mom Chadwick's restaurant.

And (if you can get off the freeway) it also boasts one of the most attractive suburbs in California. At the little town of La Jolla.

High on this list of attractions is the zoo, where animals roam in a natural habitat and subsist—our young guide assured us—"on a diet of bread and fingers."

It took us an hour to drive around the zoo in an open-air bus, during which time we saw such exotic creatures as wild boar, jaguar, giraffe, dirigo, emu, zebra, hippopotamus, wapiti, and a strange form of small bear whose name I forget, but which has a tongue as long as your red necktie.

This trip was unforgettable for a number of reasons, not the least of which was a remark made by the college boy

Quick Action Expected On Fire Hall

Old Yates Street Site Most Likely, Says Mayor

Construction of the new Victoria main fire hall on the site of the old Yates Street hall is expected to be recommended to city council Thursday.

Mayor Percy Scourrah said today he thought a decision whether or not to hold a plebiscite on the proposed $300,000 construction also would be reached.

The mayor is anxious to see the project started as early as possible to relieve the winter unemployment problem.

"We could go right ahead. The funds are ready."

He said he was sure the fire wardens committee will recommend a site for the hall at the Thursday meeting, and it looks now as if it will be the site of the old Yates Street hall.

He felt negotiations with Greater Victoria School Board for a portion of Central Junior High School grounds are now ended.

Mayor Scourrah said the firemen's recreation room above the old fire hall has now been condemned due to roof sag. He said he moved a children's Christmas party from the hall for the same reason. It is doubtful if the roof could stand a heavy snowfall, he added.

Shawnigan Lake Likely Choice For Ski Meet

An international water ski meet which had been proposed for Beaver Lake in August now will be held probably at Shawnigan Lake.

A spokesman for Victoria Aqua Ski Club said today the change of plans appears inevitable, following the Victoria council public works committee refusal to permit a paid admission in Beaver-Elk Lake Park.

However, the water ski group will ask a meeting with city council before making definite plans for Shawnigan.

Public works committee on Thursday felt Beaver Lake was too small for such an event and proposed Elk Lake be used and a collection be taken to meet expenses. The committee held the lakes are set aside for public use and no admission charge could be made.

COST $10,000

The ski group said today costs of staging the meet will range up to $10,000, and "we can't rely on a collection."

Mountain View Auto Camp at Shawnigan offers the facilities required.

The club uses the auto camp beach and a foreshore during summer months and has installed jumps. Adequate parking for large crowds has been guaranteed.

New Officers Elected By Kennel Club

G. F. Christie was elected president of the Victoria City Kennel Club at the recent annual meeting.

He succeeds Mrs. Margot Bowden who had held the office five years.

Mrs. E. M. Robertson was named vice-president, Mrs. J. W. Anderson, second vice-president, and Miss Barbara Watt was returned as secretary-treasurer.

Plans were discussed for the parlor show Feb. 1, and championship shows on March 28 and 29, to be held in the Crystal Garden.

4,530 Men Out of Work In Victoria

The male employment picture appears to be levelling off in Greater Victoria, the National Employment Service reported today.

This week male unemployed ranks rose by only a dozen. However, the figure is still high, 4,530 men and 1,379 women registered as seeking work.

There were 156 new female job seekers registered this week.

This hike was due mostly to after-Christmas layoffs in stores.

There were no mass layoffs during the week.

No More Funds For Casual B.C. Roadwork

Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi admitted today that his department has already spent its full $6,000,000 budget for day labor during the current fiscal year.

The minister said the department has laid off many casual workers, but said he knew of no long-time highways employees being cut from the payroll.

"No such order has gone out from me," he said.

SHORT OF FUNDS

There have been reports the highways department, because of a shortage of funds, has laid off many workers, particularly in the interior.

Mr. Gagliardi said little construction or reconstruction work is done during the winter and it was decided to use up the budgeted amount during the good weather.

New Bribery Counts Laid To Sommers

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Sommers bribery case was adjourned today for a week and the Police Court Magistrate said: "It's obvious the case will not get on for some time."

The charges of conspiracy and of bribery against Robert Sommers, former British Columbia lands and forest minister, and four forest industry companies and four of their executives, was adjourned after defence and Crown attorneys indicated they may not be ready to proceed until February.

Next week's hearing is expected to set a date for proceeding in the case.

In addition to conspiracy charges filed earlier against Sommers and the other defendants, Prosecutor Stewart McMoran filed charges today of bribery and accepting bribes. He said that if proven against them, it could increase their maximum sentence to 14 years from the five-year sentence possible on the conspiracy charges. A further defendant was brought into the case Thursday when B.C. Forest Products Limited was served with a summons listing six charges of bribery and conspiracy. The company's late president, Hector Munro, who died in December of a heart attack was listed in two of the counts.

The charges specify that the companies and their executives conspired with Sommers and bribed him while he was forest minister in consideration for forest management licences. Continued on Page 11

Mothers Grand, Mothers Great, For New Baby

By TONY DICKASON
Wanda Denita Williams, born in St. Joseph's Hospital Monday, has inherited a lot of mothers.

She has—of course—a mother, but in addition has a grandmother, great-grandmother and great-great-grandmother, all in Victoria.

Five generations living is unique enough, but when they are all women, it's as rare as plucking in an igloo.

"Gosh," said a city obstetrician when informed of the femme-phenomena today. He recovered sufficiently to term the possibility of five generations of living females "extremely rare—very rare."

Wee Wanda (six pounds 15 ounces at birth) is the daughter of Mrs. Gloria Williams, 23, and her able seaman husband serving in HMCS James Bay. They live at 1031 Esquimalt Road.

Her mother, and the baby's grandmother, is Mrs. Valentine Rowe, 43, 1171 Colville. Her mother and the baby's great-grandmother is Mrs. Catherine Arden, 59, 478 Gorge. In Continued on Page 11

Job Seekers Almost Double

OTTAWA (CP)—Persons applying for jobs with National Employment Service almost doubled between mid-November and late December, Labor Minister Starr told the Commons today.

Registrations totalled 698,153 at Dec. 26, against 352,144 in mid-November. A year earlier, they were 387,327.

The December figure is the highest since the National Employment service was set up in 1940.

Feared Drowned

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP)—A massive air and sea search for three men aboard a missing fishboat was called off late Thursday. The three were presumed to have been drowned.

They were Ed Cottrell, and native fishermen Ted White and William Cooper, all of the Port Simpson area north of this coastal city.

Success Marks Dual Launching

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Another big ballistic missile was launched here today almost four hours after the successful firing of an Atlas intercontinental weapon.

The second weapon could have been one of two intermediate range air force missiles—the Navaho or the Thor. The Navaho has been discontinued but the Thor is reported ready to go into mass production. The missile appeared to have been fired successfully. It was the first time two missiles had been fired on the same day by the U.S.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The U.S. Air Force successfully launched its fourth Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile today.

The giant missile rose from its launching pad, in a puff of white smoke and a tremendous flash of flame.

Within 15 minutes the defence department announced that the launching was a success—a fact highly evident to the handful of reporters who watched from beaches some miles away from the fenced-off test centre.

The department said further that "the test, which was not full range, was successful."

This meant that the Atlas, designed to fly more than 5,000 miles, was assigned a shorter range for this test flight and operated accurately over that distance.

The Atlas is the American answer to Soviet intercontinental ballistic capability.

SECOND SUCCESS

This was the second apparently successful firing of "the beast," as the Atlas is known to its builders.

On the first two tries, the big missile started to get out of control shortly after launching and had to be destroyed.

The third launching last Dec. 17 was successful over a 600-mile range. The air force said the missile landed in a pre-selected target area.

LIBERAL SHOWDOWN PREDICTED FOR JAN. 21

Election Seen March 24 or 31

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent
OTTAWA—A final showdown between the Liberals and

Conservatives is rapidly approaching.

The Diefenbaker government will probably meet its defeat in the Commons on a vote of want of confidence in its trade policies on Tuesday, Jan. 21, leading to a general election on March 24 or 31.

The Liberals will have selected their new leader by next Thursday night. Rt. Hon. L. S. St. Laurent, however, will continue to occupy the leader's chair in parliament on Friday and Saturday in the Commons. The new Liberal leader will move into the desk of the leader of the Opposition on Monday.

The Progressive Conservatives are planning to challenge the new Liberal leader to "put up or shut up" almost immediately. They will hold back the final supply motion scheduled to go before the House, traditional vehicle for want of confidence motions.

The government will schedule the supply motion for either Monday, Jan. 20 or Jan. 27 with the chances being it will come down on Jan. 20, immediately following the Liberal convention. The CCF will insist that the usual two-day debate be allowed on the supply motion. The Liberals are expected to introduce a motion that will be a want of confidence motion in the government. It will probably condemn the government's trade policies and in the debate the Liberals will claim that the "bungling" trade policies of the government have contributed to the mounting unemployment.

CCF SUPPORT CERTAIN

The CCF would support such a Liberal want of confidence motion providing it did not include any section that was a eulogy of private enterprise or some other section that would make it impossible for the Socialists to swallow. The Liberals determined to challenge the government would presumably introduce a motion that will be Continued on Page 2

Demos Want Exact Blueprint Of Ike's Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats called on President Eisenhower today to back up with specific blueprints for action the eight-point program he placed before Congress and the American people Thursday.

Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Senate Democratic leader, set the show-me tone of reaction to the proposals Eisenhower outlined in his "state of the union" message. Eisenhower said they are needed to meet the growing space-age threat of what he repeatedly called "Communist imperialism."

"The president has in general terms set forth some worthy objectives," Johnson said in an interview. "He has called for strengthening of our allies, greater understanding and commerce between nations and attempts to bring peace to the world."

NEED SPECIFIC PLANS

"Now we are waiting for his blueprints for meeting those objectives. As soon as he lays them down, our committees will promptly consider his recommendations."

The Democrats control the committees because of their majority in Congress.

Although Johnson and House Speaker Sam Rayburn (Dem., Tex.) both praised the Republican president's speech, there was mounting evidence of Democratic disappointment that Eisenhower did not make any spectacular proposals for an immediate buildup in American military might.

An analysis of the president's proposals circulated among Democratic senators said that basically the message was "long on proposals and short on performance."

"Even the program to step up national security boils down to pumping a little more money into existing projects and promising vaguely to reorganize the defence structure," the analysis said.

SERVICE BICKERING

Rayburn said he was "glad to know the president is alive to what the American people are disturbed about—and this is the bickering and dissension among the armed services."

"I hope he gives Defence Secretary McElroy the authority to get the job done regardless of who stays or who has to go."

A high administration official said Eisenhower has in mind a move to bolster the secretary of defence with additional authority over military spending.

This official said the president will personally direct the defence department reorganization plans and might recommend creation of a staff of military advisers, separate from the joint chiefs of staff, to help McElroy resolve disputes among the services.

Leading off his eight points with his reference to defence reorganization, Eisenhower called for a speedup in production of missiles, nuclear submarines, and other modern weapons.

There was evident opposition, however, to his call for continuation of foreign aid at a high level and continuation of the reciprocal trade agreements act for five years.

EDUCATION PROGRAM

Many Democrats have indicated that they want to go further than Eisenhower's proposal for a billion-dollar four-year program to promote education and research.

The president will send to Congress Monday his new budget calling for $73,800,000,000 or more in spending and an increase in the federal debt ceiling, government informants say.

Eisenhower's call Thursday for efforts to bring about disarmament and peace was generally applauded, although except for a co-operative "science for peace" effort he proposed little that was new.

In London, editorial comment on the speech was lukewarm. Tass news agency reported in Moscow that Eisenhower spoke of preserving strength and working for true peace, but said most of the speech was "taken up by military problems."

PUBLIC LIKES IKE'S ADDRESS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House reported today that messages from the public on President Eisenhower's "state of the union" address are running 90 per cent in support of his proposals.

Asked about the opposition communications, press secretary James C. Hagerty said most of those took issue with proposals for continuation and expansion of foreign aid.

ably word the motion so that it would be acceptable to the CCF. A straight motion condemning the government's trade policies would be almost certain to win the support of the CCF group.

The 106 Liberals in the House plus the 25 CCF would add up to a total of 131, providing all members were on hand. The Liberals would make their decision to bring down such a want of confidence motion at a party caucus to be held immediately after the convention.

There is a group of Liberals who are advocating that the party hold back and wait two or three months before bringing down the government. But Hon. L. R. Pearson is believed to strongly favor challenging the administration immediately after the convention. If he is elected leader his viewpoint is expected to prevail in the party caucus.

The Social Credit group in the House would likely vote against the Liberal want of confidence motion and with the government. However, even if the Social Credit group went along with the government in the test of strength it is believed the combined forces of the CCF and Liberals would be sufficient to defeat the government.

Even if the Conservatives won by a narrow margin of three or four votes it is doubtful that Prime Minister John Diefenbaker would carry on. He would likely consider it as no vote of confidence in his administration and seek dissolution.

Consequently most members of parliament are preparing themselves for a winter election campaign.

Spiralling Costs Hit Lumber Firms

No Equal Rise in Productivity Says Macmillan, Bloedel President

VANCOUVER (CP)—The lumber industry, in common with the province and the whole of Canada, faces the problem of "spiralling costs without an equalizing rise in productivity," the president of Macmillan & Bloedel Ltd. said Thursday.

"I would venture to say this situation is also turning into one of the most important political problems of the day," Ralph M. Shaw told the company's annual shareholders' meeting here.

"Continually rising costs without a corresponding increase in rate of production results eventually in profitless operations—which in turn lead to unemployment and this finally stops the rise in costs if it is not too late."

While costs to the lumber and other industries of wages and supplies have increased steadily, he said, "The prices we receive for our lumber have, on the average, gone down about 12 per cent compared with 10 years ago."

Commenting on a strike of 6,000 pulp and paper workers which has tied up the industry for the last nine weeks, Mr. Shaw termed it "incredible" that the two unions involved should have rejected increases in pay and other benefits offered by the seven strikebound companies.

The companies' latest offer, which Mr. Shaw said would have increased wages 20 cents to a peak of $2.53 an hour, was rejected. He added:

"Considering the market outlook for our industry, I feel that the last offer... is difficult to justify from the standpoint of the shareholder, but it was evidence of the companies' goodwill to achieve a settlement in this dispute."

"Hundreds of millions of dollars worth of machinery and equipment lie idle. Family life suffers. And the longer the strike goes on, the more hardship will soak and spread through the economic fabric of the province."

Acts of Brig Brutality Denied By Burly U.S. Marine Sergeant

YOKOSUKA, Japan (AP)—Sgt. Robert J. Barbuti of the United States Marines today denied before a military court that he stamped on a navy prisoner's bare feet, rammed a pencil up a man's nose until it bled, or banged two sailors' heads together to the rhythm of a Mario Lanza record.

The burly former assistant warden at the Sasebo naval base brig in south Japan said he only used his foot to shove the feet of several prisoners into the proper position for attention, tapped a man's forehead with a pencil while bawling him out and struck the sailors' shoulders together—not their heads—"to shake them up."

"In time to the record?" asked his civilian defence counsel, Frank H. Scolinos.

"No, sir, it never happened," Barbuti replied.

The 205-pound, 23-year-old sergeant denied all 28 counts of cruelty to prisoners charged to him except one slugging. He said that man told him: "Sir, I believe you are the fattest man in the brig."

The charges carry a total maximum penalty of more than 30 years in prison.

Barbuti is the 15th of 16 marine guards at the Sasebo brig to be tried on charges of mistreating prisoners. Eight have been convicted and six acquitted of lesser charges, but the U.S. Navy Pacific command reversed four of the convictions.

Barbuti also denied a testimony that he squashed shaving cream into a man's mouth and ears, kicked a man on the head as he followed orders by crawling on the floor like a dog, or drew a bayonet across a prisoner's bare chest.

'WE ARE ALL BAD SEED'

Deranged Mother Kills 3 Tots

RENO, Nev. (AP)—"We are all bad seed" read a note left by a wealthy insurance executive's estranged wife.

Her bullet-torn body and those of the couple's three children were found side by side Thursday on a bedroom floor of their $50,000 home.

Victims of what police described as child killing and suicide were Mrs. D. Yvonne Cavanaugh, 34, recently released from a mental hospital, and her children, Anthony, 9, Carol, 8, and Kevin, 4.

Robert Cavanaugh, who had been separated from his wife more than six months, was in Chicago when the shootings occurred.

Police told of blood-spattered and bullet-pocked upstairs walls, indicating that Mrs. Cavanaugh may have chased and shot the children in various rooms before bringing them downstairs to place the bodies in a row on a blanket in her lavish bedroom.

The children's bodies were riddled by bullets from a .25-calibre automatic found beside their mother.

Police said more than 20 shots had been fired.

A maid, Dora Lee Halley, found the bodies when she came to work Thursday. A note tacked to the door said:

"We are all bad seed. There never were four more unhappy and unhealthy people, and it's getting worse every day."

NATO Council Agrees On East-West Talks

PARIS (Reuters)—NATO's permanent council today agreed in principle on East-West talks provided thorough preparations are made first.

Officials said after a two-hour council meeting that no specific time for such talks or the level at which they should be held was set by the 15 NATO members.

The first replies to Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin's December letters will be sent to Moscow next week, the officials said. The replies, including those of Canada, the United States, Britain and France, will answer all Bulganin's points and make certain counter-proposals.

F.G.S.B.C.A.S.T.B. SEE BELOW FOR ANSWER

LONDON (AP)—Lord Mancroft, minister without portfolio, always knows when to f.g.s.b.c.a.s.t.b., w.p.s. or t.d.b.

Reporters noticed the cryptic initials scribbled on the margins of a written speech he made about an army recruiting drive.

F.g.s.b.c.a.s.t.b., the peer explained, means "for God's sake be careful and stick to the brief."

W.p.s. means "weak point, shout."

And t.d.b. stands for "thump the dispatch box," a container for official documents which stands in front of the ministerial benches in Parliament.

'Dahlias --- Dahlias --- Dahlias'

BIRMINGHAM, Eng. (AP)—William S. Goode promised publicly today to quit dallying with dahlias if his runaway wife will return to his bed and board.

Goode, a 51-year-old dahlia fancier who has won many prizes at flower shows, told the newspapers that Mrs. Goode vanished Dec. 30, leaving a note which said: "Dahlias, dahlias, dahlias—I am fed up with them. Break fast, supper and bedtime that is all I have had to hear."

"If she will come back I will give them up," said Goode today. "I realize now that my wife is more important than dahlias."

Mrs. Goode is 52 "but looks more like 40," he said.

Her name is Daisy.

Macmillan Mum On New Russ Note

NEW DELHI (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan lunched today with India's President Rajendra Prasad and Prime Minister Nehru.

A spokesman for Macmillan said the prime minister would not comment on Soviet Premier Bulganin's proposal for a summit conference until he sees the text of the proposal and confers with allied leaders.

Thursday Nehru told Macmillan he welcomes the British leader's suggestion for an East-West non-aggression pact.

Nehru said Macmillan's support for the pact received a warm reception "certainly in India, certainly I think in every

any further announcement at this time.

TB PATIENTS
Stanley Knowles, deputy CCF leader, said his party also wants to see TB and mental patients covered, but it welcomed the announcement.

Four provinces now have hospital care plans in effect. They are British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Newfoundland and presumably these would benefit from an early start in federal participation.

Mr. Monteith told J. W. Pickersgill (L-Bonavista-Twillin-gate) it is true he had intimated earlier to the Commons that the government planned to introduce the proposed legislation this session, but he now found this to be "impossible."

Mr. Pickersgill asked whether, in view of the balance of parties in the House, this was not "an arrogant assurance" to the provinces that the legislation will be changed.

He was referring to the fact the opposition could upset the minority government and force an election before the next session.

Current speculation is that, if no election is called in the meantime, the current session of Parliament will end late this month or by mid-February and that the next session will follow almost immediately.

CCF

ready to enter an agreement before July 1.

"We're anxious to establish the program immediately," he said.

The total budget of the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service in the current year is $36,000,000.

Federal contributions to the scheme will amount to about 45 per cent of the total each year.

NO CUTS

Premier Bennett had said previously the government did not intend to cut the sales tax when the federal plan went into effect.

Additional money would be used to provide additional services, he said.

Whipping Ban Asked

OTTAWA (CP)—Harold Winch, CCF, Vancouver East, today introduced a bill in the Commons to ban corporal punishment as part of a judicial sentence.
